The YDC Property

I view this property as our "diamond in the rough". Infrastructure needs are being addressed and given this, I am focused on our commercial parks and Phase II.

Regional awareness of this property's existence is growing. I have met with strategy firms eager to help us with the vision for this parcel and even mentioned it as a HQ to a company. I believe the next best step is to share our ideas with the senior business leaders residing here and ask for their input. Will begin to advertise nationally on LoopNet in 2017

Marketing Plan 2017 and beyond

- Shift emphasis to from local to regional awareness
- > No local/Hudson advertising (including VBB)
- Limit print to Crain's article/ad
- Sample NPR drive time
- More outgoing PR from us to marketplace
- > Tune up Existing Hudson website and social sites for ED
- > Initiate twice yearly sessions with senior business leaders in Hudson
- Revitalize HEGB

Social Media/Internet

Ramp up social media now. Find ED intermediaries/partners who have embraced this. I saw a powerful presentation on this recently. I see LinkedIn, Instagram, Twitter as useful. Not sure about Facebook. I am ready and able to take pictures of new buildings in Hudson Crossing, Phase II and elsewhere. We need to post weekly and blog at least monthly. It is time for this and the audience will grow.

Our city website is quite effective for residents. It needs a bit of fine tuning for Economic Development. We have asked Akhia to help with additional ED related infographics. I will address other content.

- S Velocity Broadband, ready to build sites, Pre-sell Downtown
- W Limited budget
- O Become a fresh voice. Social media cost is effort, not dollars. "Intelligent" communities do this!
- T We are being left behind by communities with these skills or big ad budgets.

The use of Velocity Broadband for attraction

Broadband is a factor in EVERY Attraction and Retention discussion. My fluency is improving rapidly as I have become involved in the business model aspects of VBB. Hudson Crossing is filling with buildings that will require this offering. Velocity is a decided advantage in securing new business. This, despite the fact that many prospective businesses have focused on Hudson without knowing about VBB initially.

In retention situations I have seen a clear reluctance to move to a new location that lacks a similar offering.

I look forward to continued dialogue with the Broadband team around business operations as well as the opportunity to explore partnerships with area entities interested in what we have here. I am working on a strategy outline for this business in 2017.

Briefly – I advocate continued execution on the build out and reaching the businesses we have sold but not turned on. We need to get to the park where activity is growing - Hudson Crossing. In 2017 we need to visit 6-8 of our most sophisticated potential users to gain their input. This will allow us to develop a minimum viable product (MVP) for them. With this result we will gain high end takers and the revenue they bring. This ultimate build will ensure service quality and redundancy for all VBB customers. Once this is complete we should look to potential partners outside of Hudson with an eye to scale and revenue potential. All of this comes before FTTH.
