Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Melanie Merritt

Good evening,

I am writing as a parent of an adult child with special needs. I am asking for your support in approving the proposed development that will be close to Barlow Community Center.

As has been stated very often in the last couple years, Hate Has No Home Here in Hudson. This is the community that these individuals have grown up in, and I know that it will be a pride to our community.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Subject: Hudson community Living

Dear Hudson Planning Commission Members,

As you know based upon my remarks at the last meeting, I am a strong supporter of Hudson Community Living. I serve as a Board Member of this non-profit and am the mother of Matthew Walsh, age 24, who is excited to live in this community. Matthew is in his 5th year of the TOPS Program at The Ohio State University. He has been living independently in an apartment the past 5 years and has done very well. Matthew was diagnosed with Autism when he was 3 years old and has faced many struggles over the years. Despite these struggles, he has learned to live independently and is very proud of himself. We initially had hoped that Matthew would move into this housing shortly after his graduation in May, 2023. When we first told Matthew where he would be living, he was really excited that he would be living near all his friends from Hudson High School. As a parent, it was very difficult to listen to statements from the opposition at this last hearing. Hudson was always such a welcoming community when Matthew attended our schools. It was my first experience with Hudson residents who acted as if they love the idea for our children to live in the community, but "not in my backyard". This is the type of discrimination I have heard of for years, but never personally experienced. I found it very disingenuous to listen to people talking about how wonderful our kids are but then expressing SHOCK that the land would be re-zoned for this community. I found it insulting that one resident actually said our kids should not be walking downtown as they will be hit by a car. I can assure this commission that we, as parents, know what our children are capable of doing. My son has been walking all around Ohio State, and even crossing busy High Street for years and is perfectly capable of doing so safely. Should we be talking about all the 6th grade middle school students who walk downtown on Fridays after school? Comments such as "although these kids don't drive, their parents will be visiting them all the time and there will be caregivers in and out all day" was also insulting. I'm quite sure there will be considerably more traffic going in and out of the Fox Trace neighborhood, which to my surprise, is not even that close to the proposed community for our kids. And questions about security for Hudson Community Living, as if our kids will be dangerous neighbors is again, insulting. We have already agreed to install a 6 foot fence around the entire community. In summary, "it's a lovely idea", "it's a great idea", "I think this concept is very laudable", "it's an amazing project", but followed with, "but not in my backyard" is very disturbing to me as a 24 year resident of Hudson, the 22 year Summit County Prosecutor and the mother of a wonderful adult child with autism. I know our City Personnel have worked very hard to oversee this project so far and I appreciate their efforts. I hope that they, as well as The Planning Commission, also appreciate how hard we have worked to comply with everything we have been asked to do. We are very serious about this community being successful and well cared for. I ask for your support at the next meeting. Thank you. Sherri Bevan Walsh, 7519 Warren Point Lane, Hudson.

Good morning!

My name is Mike Roecker and I live at 25 Bradley Dr. in Hudson Ohio. I was able to attend the past planning commission meeting to learn about Hudson Community Living. I'm certainly no expert but I was very impressed with the level of planning, cooperation and execution of this community for disabled individuals.

I heard the concerns of some Hudson residents, but I believe the developers and the commission have done an outstanding job of addressing these concerns. I was very impressed with the level of cooperation between the city and the HCL developers. Because of this excellent cooperation I am comfortable the development will be well executed and an asset for the city and the individuals living at HCL. I will live near this community and frequently walk down South Oviatt with my wife Joni to pick up coffee at Heartwood. I will be delighted to see such a development in our community, and it would bring a smile to my face every time I walk by.

Hudson will be a better place and our community will be strengthened by having such a caring neighborhood. I applaud this effort to support our fellow citizens to live safely, securely and happily in homes in which they will thrive.

I STRONGLY support the establishment of Hudson Community Living in our neighborhood. Please let me know if there is anything I can do to support this effort going forward. Thank you for your efforts on Hudson's Planning Commission.

Sincerely,

Mike Roecker

Dear Hudson City Planning Commissioner,

I am writing to let you know that I am FOR the development of the Hudson Community Living(HCL). As a previous Special Needs teacher I know how important a community like this is to adults with special needs and their families. This living environment will become home to up to 33 adult children with developmental disabilities. Because HCL is so unique, one could expect it to become a national model for inclusion of persons with developmental disabilities, focusing a positive spotlight on Hudson and its residents. HCL has worked continuously with Hudson City Staff and the Hudson Planning Commission on density and has had two traffic studies completed. The community will be less dense than surrounding Hudson neighborhoods. Finally, there is no direct access to this community from surrounding neighborhoods. The development has a 25 foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6 foot privacy fence. These are just a few reasons why I give my total support FOR the Hudson Community Living. I urge you to please consider my response in your decision making this evening.

Sincerely,
Lisa Charpentier

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Planning Committee,

I hope this email finds you doing well.

My wife Mary and I have the privilege of knowing some of the adults with developmental disabilities who will be living in this new facility. We believe this is a great opportunity for our community to come alongside and secure this safe environment for these adult children with special needs.
We pray and hope you will vote and approve this living facility so these young adults with special needs can enjoy their adult life in a supportive living environment surrounded by family, friends and the loving community we have here!

Sincerely,

Emmanuel

They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. To Hudson Planning Commission Members:

My name is Pat Walsh and I am the father of Matthew Walsh, an individual with developmental disabilities who will be living at Hudson Community Living. I am married to Sherri Bevan Walsh and I am a partner at the law firm of Bevan & Associates located in Boston Heights.

Our son Matthew is 24 years old. About 21 years ago, our path in life was completely changed when Matthew was diagnosed with Autism at the age of 3.
The overwhelming weight of this diagnosis was, at first, very difficult for my wife Sherri and myself and all thoughts were on what the future would bring for Matthew.

Thanks to Hudson's wonderful school system and caring and dedicated staff, Matthew has learned how to do many things on his own, albeit in a much different and more methodical way than other people. After Matthew graduated from Hudson High School in 2018, he was accepted into the TOPS Program at Ohio State University. This program has resulted in Matthew living on his own, in an apartment, with another young adult with developmental disabilities. In this program, Matthew has developed the confidence to learn new things and we are proud to say that he can now handle many things on his own including: wash clothes, grocery shop, attend social events, navigate the OSU Campus and Columbus City bus system to attend classes and employment.

Matthew is on track to complete the OSU Tops program in May of 2023 and we were in the process of trying to figure out Matthew's future living arrangements when we heard about the wonderful work being done by Chris and Patty Gurreri with Hudson Living. This was the answer to our hopes and prayers. A community for developmentally disabled young adults in Hudson to promote independent living in the town where Matthew was born and raised.

We have been so excited about Hudson Living and thought we had Matthew's future figured out. But, then, along comes a small group of Hudson residents who wish to oppose our project and discriminate against our developmentally-disabled family members. They hide behind words like "safety" and "traffic" and "services", but what they are really saying is - "we don't want these people in our backyard". Hudson Community Living will be a private community with homes very similar to the homes the people complaining are currently living in - multiple bedrooms and bathrooms, kitchens, garages, etc. Quite honestly, I don't even understand the basis of any of the complaints or concerns being raised. If this was another residential community being built with homes over $500,000 each in value, I suspect there would be no complaints by these neighbors.

Apparently, the majority of the residents complaining about the new Hudson Living Project are residents of Fox Trace. They complain of water, sewer, traffic and so on. I don't see where any aspect of what's being proposed is in violation of Hudson's Planning Code and Zoning Ordinances. Fox Trace residents don't get to "squat" in their homes and proclaim they are the only ones who can use the water, sewers or roadways in Hudson. Our residents have every right to these services as any other residents. I suspect that the Fox Trace homeowners use City of Hudson services to a much greater degree when their immediate family members, domestic workers, delivery drivers, landscapers, etc. are taken into account. Almost all the tentative residents of Hudson Community Living do not drive.

I find it offensive and unbelievable that Sarah Norman, a member of the Planning Commission would require us to demonstrate that we are "permitted to discriminate" against normal functioning people before she would consider voting in favor of Hudson Community Living.

I try to live my life according to a set of values that my parents instilled in me and that we all try to instill in our children. Trying to prevent those people among us who were born with developmental disabilities and need additional help and guidance from living a life of fulfillment and enjoyment is wrong - plain and simple.

I am quite certain that I am on the right side of this issue. I ask those objecting to this proposal to search their souls and hearts and ask if this is truly how your Creator (whomever or whatever you believe this to be, if applicable) would want you to approach this proposed project for our developmentally-disabled children who need the love and support of our entire community.

Sincerely,

Pat Walsh

And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Through our experiences we quickly learned the value in accepting and including all members of our community.

Our experiences in Hudson led us both to our current careers. We see on a daily basis in the schools, and in the community, an overwhelming sense of connectedness between community members with disabilities and their peers.

An initiative this year from our schools and in collaboration with the community is “Portrait of an Explorer”. The mission of this initiative was in part to answer “What are the hopes, aspirations, and dreams that our community has for our young people?”

We couldn’t help but think about these pillars that we want our students to have and how it relates to Hudson Community Living. Adaptive Problem Solver: “An Explorer perseveres to reach solutions, even in rapidly changing environments filled with diverse views, obstacles, and sometimes failure.” What HCL has done in collaboration with the city seems to completely embody being an Adaptive Problem Solver.

We hope our fellow residents seek to be Empathetic Contributors: “An Explorer understands and learns from others feelings, thoughts, and experiences. An explorer actively looks for opportunities that improve the lives of others.” This project is actively pursuing an opportunity to improve the lives of others.

We simply ask you to consider that if these are the traits we want our young kids to have, that we too encourage that behavior as adults in decisions we make for our community.

We fully support Hudson Community Living and ask for you to approve the proposal.

Planning Commission members, Mr. Sugar, Chris Gurreri,

I know that you are planning to make a decision tomorrow regarding the Hudson Community Living neighborhood. I am writing today to express my FULL support and ask for your favorable vote.

As a business leader, I share great pride in living in the Hudson Community. I am proud that the leaders of this community continue to stand up for the differences of all of its residents. I hear what the opposing views are on this issue; however, if we all put ourselves in the position to help one another I am confident that all residents would support this new community. I feel that developing this community in Hudson would be a model for other towns, cities, and even states to follow.

I am truly proud to call Hudson my home when there are members of the community that make all people feel included.

Thank you for the time you have spent considering this issue. I hope that you will make this a special addition to our already wonderful community.

Best regards,

Dear Hudson City Planning Commission,

I am writing in support for the Hudson Community Living project that has been proposed adjacent to the Barlow Community Center.

I see this project as only a benefit to our community and those it will be serving. I am willing to help in any way needed to ensure this becomes a place to call home for the adults with developmental disabilities.

Hello Honorable members of the Hudson Planning Commission:

My name is Katerina Papas. I am not a Hudson resident but I have served the children of Summit County including disabled children for over thirty one years as Deputy Executive Director and Chief Legal Counsel of Summit County Children Services prior to my recent retirement. I know first hand that inclusion of children of all abilities strengthens communities and doesn't weaken them. I strongly support Hudson Community Living and some of the facts that led me to this conclusion are as follows:

Hudson Community Living (HCL) is an innovative, forward-thinking, accessible neighborhood for adults with developmental disabilities to be located adjacent to Barlow Community Center. This "community within a community" was conceptualized by a small group of Hudson, OH parents who want independence for their children in a safe and secure environment. It will be a place where these adult children with special needs can live fully, joyfully and independently in a supportive living environment surrounded by family, friends, and neighbors, within the community where they grew up.

Specifically:

- HCL features seven cottage style multi-unit residences, a gazebo, walking paths, and an elegant clubhouse beautifully designed to look like a traditional Hudson family home
- This supportive living environment will become home to up to 33 adult children with developmental disabilities
- HCL is so unique, it is expected to become a national model for inclusion of persons with developmental disabilities, shining a positive spotlight on Hudson and its residents
- Hudson City Council recently approved new zoning for the community
- HCL has worked continuously with Hudson City Staff and the Hudson Planning Commission on density and has had two traffic studies completed. This community will be less dense than surrounding Hudson neighborhoods
- The founding parent group has privately raised $5 million for the project and have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times
- There is absolutely no direct access to this community from surrounding neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence

Hudson had always been an excellent and innovative community. HCL will put Hudson on the national map as a stellar example of inclusion of adult citizens with diverse abilities. It will make a huge difference in the lives of all citizens of the community by exposing them to the advantages of inclusion of diverse groups of citizens.

Respectfully Submitted,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

To whom it may concern,

My name is Alex Faiman and I am writing to express my unwavering support FOR the Hudson Community Living (HCL) campus, which will be built in downtown Hudson.

I am writing on behalf of my 22-year-old sister, Sarah, who has lived with severe autism and epilepsy her entire life. Now an adult, Sarah's condition has affected her ability to live without support. It is my family's hope for Sarah to live in Hudson Community Living (HCL) and give back to Hudson as a dignified and integral member of our community.

Since my family moved to Hudson in 2008, we have felt the community's support for non-neurotypical children like my sister Sarah. Throughout high school, Sarah was able to participate in clubs like 'Our Time to Shine,' and extracurriculars like 'Sparkle Cheer', before proudly graduating from Hudson High School the summer after her 21st birthday. Now that Sarah has graduated, my family has found themselves in yet another state of uncertainty. The monumental lack of infrastructure and resources for people living with disabilities is both crippling and claustrophobic.

Per the Hudson City Government website, Hudson's mission is to promote an "outstanding community that values quality of life," with a "vision to the future and professionalism in volunteer and public service." The Hudson Community Living (HCL) project has provided a glimmer of hope for my family. Not only will residents be able to access the resources necessary for their own comfort, but they will finally have the ability to participate in and contribute to our community.

This is an OPPORTUNITY for Hudson to broaden its horizons and to show our true colors - to work together to solidify Hudson's place as one of the best places to live in Ohio. The community campus will allow us to build upon a strong foundation to attract new residents, build our tax base, and generate additional revenue.

Hudson Community Living (HCL) has the potential to be a life changing development for the members of our community like Sarah. I'm ashamed that those who oppose this project have incited fear and have spread senseless rumors about the project; we cannot allow these unfounded fallacies to distract us from the potential of the HCL project.

I am HONORED to say that I am from Hudson, a city which supports its residents without hesitation.

Please vote "YES" and approve this project.

Thank you,

Alex Faiman

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

We want to express our support for the Hudson Community Living (HCL) concept for developing a "community within a community" for independent living for those with developmental disabilities. During our 46 years in Hudson, we have known families with children with developmental disabilities and witnessed their difficulties finding a local place for their adult children to live in a supportive community. The adult children would benefit by having the feeling of independence provided by living in a structured community. It would also provide comfort to the parents knowing that their child is being nurtured in a caring environment.

Please give careful consideration to the benefits of the HCL concept. We hope you agree with us that the HCL concept is important and that it deserves a place in Hudson.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I am tired of the speeding, and people laying on the horn and giving me the finger when I try to pull into my own driveway. Multiples times a day I take my life into my hands trying to cross the Oviatt-303 intersection. This area cannot sustain more traffic.

It seems that our code is very unclear on this type of development, and thus I feel that the Commission should not approve the project given the vagaries of what elements of the code may or may not apply to any given aspect of the project. We don't need to experiment; the Commission exists to clearly regulate development in a manner consistent with existing code. The ramifications of this project are anything but clear, and once it is built and issues arise — it will be too late.

Mrs. Karen Weber

Retired Educator, Hudson City Schools

December 9, 2022

Dear Hudson City Planning Commission members,

As a recently retired Administrator with the Hudson City Schools, I am writing to express my support FOR the Hudson Community Living proposal. I have been following this exciting concept for a supported living environment with great interest.

When I began my career as a teacher in 1987, I worked in a district that did not understand the importance of inclusion. It saddened me that the students in my classroom missed out on so many opportunities to work alongside students with special needs. They missed the experiences of building supportive friendships, mentoring others, understanding how to work with and be comfortable around peers who are unique, and developing compassion for others. They became comfortable with seeing students in a self-contained classroom away from the rest of the school. The result of this practice during children's developmental years most certainly led to them grow into adults that don't value the importance of inclusion.

In 1997, I began my 25 year career as an Assistant Principal in the Hudson City Schools. Initially I worked as the director of the Preschool Program at Evamere Elementary. In this program, students with a diagnosed disability were able to attend school alongside typical peers beginning at age three. What an incredible opportunity for both the students and parents. During my tenure in Hudson, I worked as principal in both the elementary and middle school settings, with a skillset of working with students on Individual Education Plans and their families. I witnessed first hand the beauty of inclusion, and my observations lead me to believe that the Hudson City Schools is a unique place that values bringing all children together to build a community. These exact experiences develop young adults who are compassionate, patient and understanding of those that may have developmental, physical or social challenges. I truly believe that our district is a top notch model for all Ohio schools in this area. The City of Hudson now has the opportunity to continue an inclusive model right here in town. As a result of our inclusion model in the schools, our students, young adults and families have a great foundation of compassion and knowledge that can be used to continue to support ALL community members within the Hudson boundaries.

I recently became aware of a small group of citizens concerned with the location of the Hudson Community Living plan. After reviewing both the proposed HCL plan, and the concerns of those in opposition, I am perplexed and deeply disappointed. I know that the citizens of Hudson are ready for this type of community. I know that the Board members proposing the HCL plan will continue to collaborate with the city in all areas to see this model succeed. As an educator of 35 years, I urge you, as Planning Commission members to move forward in supporting the Hudson Community Living plan. The result will be a community that enriches the lives of its citizens and models the importance of inclusion for all.

Sincerely,

Karen Weber

Members of the Planning Commission,
I am writing to voice my support for the conditional use and site plan review from Hudson Community Living(HCL). I believe the project proposed by HCL would be a wonderful addition to our community and a much needed resource for members of our community as well as surrounding communities. I am asking that you please vote yes in support of this project.
Thank you,
Samantha Lisy

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Emily Nelman

The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear members of the Hudson Community Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I would like to show my support for Hudson Community Living. We moved to Hudson 12 years ago so our two sons with special needs could attend Hudson City Schools. It was the best decision we ever made.

They have received amazing support from their outstanding teachers. They were embraced by there peers and accepted as their friends. There have been numerous opportunities for them to be included in the Hudson Community. They participate in Soccer4All, Hudson Special Olympics, Our Time to Shine Drama Club, Hudson Hawks annual football fundraiser for Special Olympics and a number of other community activities.

Both of our sons volunteered at jobs in and around our community through Hudson High School. They have now been hired to work at Giant Eagle in Hudson and at Universal Screen Arts in Hudson.

We would love to have them live in this community where they are so welcome and have found employment. HCL provides them the opportunity to continue their growth and be happy, contributing members of society here in Hudson where they are comfortable. Which is the dream of every parent.

Thank you for your time and please support Hudson Community Living.

Sincerely,

Kelly Gosiewski

To Whom It May Concern -

I am a resident of Hudson and am writing in support of Hudson Community Living (HCL) . I firmly believe there is strength in diversity and This "community within a community" will offer a home and wonderful environment where the residents can be close to loved ones and the wonderful place they've called home over the years.

This would be a fantastic addition to our community.

Sincerely,

Beau Bonner

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Re: Hudson Community Living

My wife & I lived in Hudson for 14 years with our 2 daughters sending them through Hudson's public school system. Hudson is the perfect small town to raise a family, great school district, friendly community, with opportunities for our children to flourish in todays society. For 14 years we had the privilege watching our girls play basketball, swim, softball and a few more sports. Most importantly watching them grow to be mature loving young women who care for others. Girls went off to college so it was time for us to downsize and move on to another chapter.

Reason I talk about my girls first is I want you to understand how important family and community are to us. I believe they go hand in hand complimenting the other.
That is why I believe Hudson Community Living is a perfect fit for Hudson. Please pass and let this project go through. The blessing to everyone in the community will be amazing.
Creating a safe place for these wonderful individuals to move on to their next chapter is vital.

Thank you for your time,
Dan & Mardee Billingsley

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

As a pediatrician and member of the Hudson Community I want to endorse the creation of a living environment, as has been thoughtfully planned out with the Hudson Planning commission, to create a 33 adult children with disabilities living community. It has my full endorsement. I'm glad to see most of our Hudson Community be welcoming and inclusive to these valuable and appreciated members of our community with providing them the dignity to live independently with the support of our town in such a well planned out space in Hudson.

It appears that the founding parent group has done significant due diligence in being sure the place has the Army Corp. of engineers endorsement that it will not impact the wet lands adversely with proper remediation and the 7 cottage residential homes and gazebo with walking paths sounds like a lovely addition to the style and charm we expect of our neighborhood spaces.

Having this novel community designed space for adults with disabilities will undoubtedly provide Hudson with positive press. I would be so grateful to see our Hudson community gain positive attention for the warmth and inclusion to people who face challenges and are perhaps different from the main stream population that makes up the demographics of this town. We should find pride in supporting the endeavors of this project.

My husband and youngest also voters in this town: Joseph Sokol and June Dougherty also add their support to this letter.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

John Brockway

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Heather Gleason

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

As a pediatrician and member of the Hudson Community I want to endorse the creation of a living environment as has been thoughtfully planned out with the Hudson Planning commission to create a 33 adult children with disabilities living community. It has my full endorsement. I'm glad to see most of our Hudson Community be welcoming and inclusive to these valuable and appreciated members of our community with providing them the dignity to live independently with the support of our town in such a well planned out space in Hudson.

It appears that the founding parent group has done significant due diligence in being sure the place has the Army Corp. of engineers endorsement that it will not impact the wet lands adversely with proper remediation and the 7 cottage residential homes and gazebo with walking paths sounds like a lovely addition to the style and charm we expect of our neighborhood spaces.

Having this novel community designed space for adults with disabilities will undoubtedly provide Hudson with the positive press. I would be so grateful to see our Hudson community gain positive attention for in the warmth and inclusion to people who face challenges and are perhaps different from the main stream population that makes up the demographics of this town. We should find pride in supporting the endeavors of this project.

HUDSON COMMUNITY LIVING
Joyful Living with Lifelong Friends

On Dec 9, 2022, at 9:51 PM, Paula Snyder <drpaulajsnyder@gmail.com> wrote:

Dear Members of the Hudson Planning Commission,

I write to you in support of the proposed Hudson Community Living development, which will provide much needed housing in the community for adults with developmental disabilities.

Recently retired after 33 years in education, I have experience not only teaching middle, high school and college students, but also serving in building and district administrative roles. It has become increasingly difficult to serve many of our most vulnerable citizens, those with intellectual and/or developmental disabilities. Over the past several years, especially since the COVID pandemic, things have become significantly worse for those with disabilities, as, for example, hordes of caregivers have quit their jobs, resulting in people with disabilities residing in much denser quarters with less staffing.

The ARC, thearc.org, is the largest national community-based organization advocating for persons with intellectual and developmental disabilities. They provide a myriad of information and resources to help one understand the ever changing needs of people with disabilities. I encourage you to become familiar with this organization and hopefully better understand the necessity for those with intellectual and developmental disabilities to have steady, long term housing options in their own communities.

As I'm sure you are aware, it is a challenging time to serve the public. Having personally served on both elected and volunteer boards, I understand the need for "thick skin," as making decisions on behalf of a divided constituency is never easy, and often not appreciated. The recommendations you make to the Hudson Council impacts the overall environment and quality of life for everyone in the community. I strongly encourage you to support the Hudson Community Living development. The families spearheading the proposed residence have worked with the city to answer related questions, raise necessary funds and ensure compliance with current zoning codes. Hudosn is known for its many attributes, including outstanding schools, eclectic shopping options and beautiful homes for its residents. It is imperative that we continue to serve the needs of ALL our citizens, including those with intellectual and developmental disabilities, as, like anyone else, they have a role in our community. It has been noted that the greatness of a community is best measured by the compassionate way they treat their most vulnerable members. A disability must not not disqualify one from having access to every aspect of life in Hudson, Ohio, especially appropriate housing.

Thank you for your ongoing service to our community.

Sincerely,

Dr. Paula J. Snyder

Dear Members of the Hudson Planning Commission,

I write to you in support of the proposed Hudson Community Living development, which will provide much needed housing in the community for adults with developmental disabilities.

Recently retired after 33 years in education, I have experience not only teaching middle, high school and college students, but also serving in building and district administrative roles. It has become increasingly difficult to serve many of our most vulnerable citizens, those with intellectual and/or developmental disabilities. Over the past several years, especially since the COVID pandemic, things have become significantly worse for those with disabilities, as, for example, hordes of caregivers have quit their jobs, resulting in people with disabilities residing in much denser quarters with less staffing.

The ARC, thearc.org, is the largest national community-based organization advocating for persons with intellectual and developmental disabilities. They provide a myriad of information and resources to help one understand the ever changing needs of people with disabilities. I encourage you to become familiar with this organization and hopefully better understand the necessity for those with intellectual and developmental disabilities to have steady, long term housing options in their own communities.

As I'm sure you are aware, it is a challenging time to serve the public. Having personally served on both elected and volunteer boards, I understand the need for "thick skin," as making decisions on behalf of a divided constituency is never easy, and often not appreciated. The recommendations you make to the Hudson Council impacts the overall environment and quality of life for everyone in the community. I strongly encourage you to support the Hudson Community Living development. The families spearheading the proposed residence have worked with the city to answer related questions, raise necessary funds and ensure compliance with current zoning codes. Hudosn is known for its many attributes, including outstanding schools, eclectic shopping options and beautiful homes for its residents. It is imperative that we continue to serve the needs of ALL our citizens, including those with intellectual and developmental disabilities, as, like anyone else, they have a role in our community. It has been noted that the greatness of a community is best measured by the compassionate way they treat their most vulnerable members. A disability must not not disqualify one from having access to every aspect of life in Hudson, Ohio, especially appropriate housing.

Thank you for your ongoing service to our community.

Sincerely,

Dr. Paula J. Snyder

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

I am replying to your email below.

1. Prior to the public hearing in the above matter on November 14, 2022, Dr. Jack and Chris Rigby, Wellborn Jack, and I all requested that arrangements be made to accommodate everyone who wanted to speak.Your email below is simply evidence that arrangements could have been made for the public hearing, but for whatever reason, were not made.

   Although we appreciate these "accommodations", they are too little too late. As I said below, the public hearing is now closed. The damage has been done, and the message has been sent that if your views differ from the City staff's views on any particular issue, your views are not welcome, and every attempt will be made to "cancel" you. This is a very sad state of affairs.

   The violation of citizens' free speech and due process rights under the Constitution, as occurred here, is a serious matter.

2. For you to say below that "I was not made aware of anyone that wanted to speak at the November meeting but was unable to" is disingenuous.
   Mary Beth Miller, a life-long resident of Hudson, stepped up to the microphone at the public hearing on November 14, 2022 at 3:14:00 on the City's official video of the public hearing and, after being sworn in, stated in pertinent part (at 3:14:40): "I want to let you know, because you might not know, there were people all the way down the stairs, people who couldn't make it in here, that wanted to make their voices heard, they wanted to hear what you had to say. I also have lived here 52 years…"

   It seems that it was clear to everyone that citizens who wanted to speak were denied that right.

3. The fact that the citizens of Hudson just spent somewhere in the neighborhood of $8-$10 million for a new City Hall that does not address the issues discussed below speaks volumes about the incompetence and mismanagement in our city government. It seems that nothing short of a thorough house cleaning among the City staff will stop the nonsense and rectify these problems.

Our clients reserve, and do not waive, all rights, remedies and claims whatsoever against all parties whomsoever relative to the within subject matter and all related matters.

Please make this communication a part of the official record of proceedings in the above-captioned matter, and acknowledge your receipt of this communication via return email.

Thank you.

Mr Wright –

As a brief follow up to the below, staff has worked with the Fire Department, Destination Hudson and the Hudson Fire Museum to expand seating capacity within fire code allowances. The main room will have accommodations for 20 additional standing attendees in excess of the November meeting. The first floor of the building will be open with seating for 30 attendees. First floor attendees will have the opportunity to watch live on monitors and come upstairs to the podium if desired/needed. Additional staff will be present in the building to assist attendees. Additionally, Laurel Lake was on the agenda last month with an estimated 20-25 attendees present. The city reviewed multiple other venues for the meeting; however, each has limitations due to the lack of amplified audio, lack of multiple monitors, and lack of ability to livestream the meeting to the community. I was not made aware of anyone that wanted to speak at the November meeting but was unable to. If you are aware of such please let me know.

Thank you
Greg

Ladies and Gentlemen:

My firm represents Charlotte A. Barton, 142 East Streetsboro Street, Hudson, Ohio, Kenneth G. Henry et ux., 9 Edward Drive, Hudson, Ohio, Wellborn Jack, III et ux (individually and as trustee), 28 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio, and Kenneth M. Haneline et ux, 42 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio with regard to the above matter.

I am following up on my email to you of November 13, 2022 with regard to the captioned matter (below).

1. I had asked in my prior email (below) that the City of Hudson make whatever arrangements were necessary to guaranty everyone's right to be heard. The City staff chose to ignore this request, thereby effectively "cancelling" the voices of many residents on both sides of the issue at hand. This is no different than what we have learned Twitter has done for a long time. Shame on you!

I never thought this would happen in Hudson, but there can be no doubt that this happened. As long-time resident Mary Beth Miller stated on the record at the public hearing in this matter on November 14, there were residents lined up down the stairs and out the door of the century-old Town Hall who wished to speak but were prevented from doing so because of capacity limitations (with the Fire Chief himself stationed on the second floor to prevent admission).

I again ask that the City make whatever arrangements are necessary to guaranty everyone's right to be heard at the Hudson Planning Commission meeting at 7:30 p.m. on December 12, 2022. The free exercise of our rights to free speech and due process are essential to our democracy, and these rights are violated when one cannot gain entrance to a public meeting or hearing due to capacity limitations and other barriers.

2. The second issue I would like to address is the 5-minute limit on comments from citizens and their counsel. I am not aware of the Planning Commission imposing this limit in the past (at least in the last few years), and found it surprising and discriminatory, particularly towards my clients and the many other citizens who oppose Hudson Community Living's development. To give the proponents hours of time to present their proposal, then limit comments from opponents to 5 minutes, is ludicrous. Each side must be given equal time at all meetings and public hearings. The public hearing in this matter is now closed so, unfortunately, the damage is done.

Our clients reserve, and do not waive, all rights, remedies and claims whatsoever against all parties whomsoever relative to the within subject matter and all related matters.

Please make this email a part of the official record of proceedings in the above-captioned matter, and acknowledge your receipt of this email via return email.

Importance: High

Ladies and Gentlemen:

My firm represents Charlotte A. Barton, 142 East Streetsboro Street, Hudson, Ohio, Kenneth G. Henry et ux., 9 Edward Drive, Hudson, Ohio, Wellborn Jack, III et ux (individually and as trustee), 28 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio, and Kenneth M. Haneline et ux, 42 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio with regard to the above matter.

1. With regard to the public hearing on November 14, 2022, we expect anywhere from 30-60 people from the immediate neighborhood who support our clients' position. It is likely that Hudson Community Living will have a large number of supporters there as well. Both Wellborn Jack and Dr. and Mrs. Rigby have sent emails to City staff expressing concern about the ability of the Town Hall to accommodate the number of residents who wish to make their voices heard on this matter. As you well know, the neighbors have a right to be heard. Consequently, I ask that you make whatever arrangements are necessary to guaranty everyone's right to be heard.

2. Local issues can sometimes cause emotions to run high. I imagine that all present at the public hearing will conduct themselves with civility and decorum, as befits our town. Nevertheless, with such a large crowd, it may be wise for you to consider having Hudson's safety forces provide a presence at this public hearing.

3. As indicated in my letter to the Hudson Planning Commission dated November 11, 2022, I requested the information relative to the calculation of density for this development under Sections 1201.07(f) and 1205.06(d) of the Hudson Land Development Code from the Hudson Community Development Department on September 23, 2022, September 26, 2022, October 19, 2022, and again on October 28, 2022, and from Mr. Sheridan on November 7, 2022. I have still not received this information.It is apparently the developer's position, and the City staff's position, that there are no density requirements for this development. Our question is: "Where in the code does it say 'the residential density requirements in Sections 1201.07(f) and 1205.06 (d) do not apply to "institutional residential uses"'?". The City staff needs to show us these provisions, and if they do not exist, provide a calculation of the density for this development pursuant to these sections.

4. I filed a request for public records under the Ohio Public Records Act with the City of Hudson on October 20, and then filed a second request for public records with the City of Hudson on October 28, 2022. I received a response from the City of Hudson on November 10 at 12:26 p.m. (for the record, the City Solicitor's letter to me with regard to this subject is attached to this email). Given this response, the timeframes involved, and the volume of materials produced, it is difficult to determine if the production is complete, much less read and assimilate the information produced. Furthermore, I understand that the Planning Commission has discussed (and perhaps adopted) a rule that requires an application for site plan approval to be complete 4 weeks prior to a meeting. I call your attention to the fact that the new traffic study that is a part of this application is dated November 3, 2022, and the storm water/wetlands letter submitted with respect to this matter is dated October 17, 2022, but is inconclusive and incomplete. All of these materials were first made available to the public on November 10, 2022. Obviously, all materials were not submitted 4 weeks prior to the public hearing, and the application was not complete as of October 17.

   "Trial by ambush" is never the fair and just way to do things. Consequently, we ask that this application be tabled until the application is complete and final, and 4 weeks have passed to allow for citizen review and comment.

Our clients reserve, and do not waive, all rights, remedies and claims whatsoever against all parties whomsoever relative to the within subject matter and all related matters.

Please make this letter a part of the official record of proceedings in the above-captioned matter, and acknowledge your receipt of this letter via return email.

Thank you for your consideration of these requests.

Re: David Lehman – Conflict of Interest

Ladies and Gentlemen:

My firm represents Charlotte A. Barton, 142 East Streetsboro Street, Hudson, Ohio, Kenneth G. Henry et ux., 9 Edward Drive, Hudson, Ohio, Wellborn Jack, III et ux (individually and as trustee), 28 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio, and Kenneth M. Haneline et ux, 42 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio with regard to the above matter.

As you know, the City's Community Development staff has been active in promoting high-density housing in and around Hudson's Village Core for the past few years, as evidenced by the ill-fated (a) Downtown Phase II project, and (b) proposed redevelopment of the site of the former Middle School on Oviatt Street. Recently, the City's Community Development staff has been intimately involved with Hudson Community Living's efforts to develop high-density housing at 33 Oviatt Street, including suggesting the site to, and working closely with, the developer to bring that project to fruition. On November 10, the City's Community Development staff recommended approval of the Hudson Community Living's project, which is now before the Hudson Planning Commission (Case No. 2022-822). This is all a matter of public record.

As you also know, BJ Lehman, the wife of Planning Commission member David Lehman, provides public relations and marketing services for the City of Hudson on a contract basis. This could affect Mr. Lehman's objectivity and hamper his ability to exercise independent judgement, and therefore presents a conflict of interest for him with respect to Planning Commission Case Number 2022-822, in that if he were to oppose City staff and vote against the proposal from Hudson Community Living, that could have adverse consequences for Mr. Lehman's wife as a City contractor.

Mr. Lehman's voting record while on the Hudson Planning Commission, which is also a public record, may be illuminating. Our research indicates that Mr. Lehman has never voted contrary to the City staff's recommendations. At minimum, this is evidence of a strong bias on Mr. Lehman's part.

The Planning Commission has administrative rules that govern its meetings and functions. These rules have been in effect for more than 5 years, and are a public record. Rule I E entitled "Conflicts of Interest" provides as follows:

> "E. Conflict of Interest
> A member who believes he or she has a conflict of interest, whether financial or otherwise, direct or indirect, actual or perceived, in voting on an application shall notify the Chair upon introduction of said application before the Commission and shall, further, state for the record at the meeting the general nature of such conflict and physically excuse himself or herself from any and all meetings or parts therein where said application is discussed." (Emphasis added)

To avoid any appearance of impropriety and resolve this conflict of interest, whether "direct or indirect, actual or perceived", we ask that (i) the Planning Commission follow its own rules and common sense, and (ii) Mr. Lehman recuse himself, or be recused, from all further proceedings relative to Planning Commission Case Number 2022-822.

A written response to this request is hereby requested at your earliest convenience.

Our clients reserve, and do not waive, all rights, remedies and claims whatsoever against all parties whomsoever relative to the within subject matter and all related matters.

Please make this letter a part of the official record of proceedings in Case No. 2022-822, and acknowledge your receipt of this letter via return email.

Gentlemen:

My firm represents Charlotte A. Barton, 142 East Streetsboro Street, Hudson, Ohio, Kenneth G. Henry et ux., 9 Edward Drive, Hudson, Ohio, Wellborn Jack, III et ux (individually and as trustee), 28 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio, and Kenneth M. Haneline et ux, 42 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio with regard to the above matter.

I am writing to comment on two aspects of certain materials submitted by the City of Hudson to Mr. Jack in response to his Public Records Act request dated November 30, 2022 and response from Jodi Roberts dated December 1, 2022 (copy attached):

1. Deed Restriction.

Under "Staff Comments", item No. 1 provides in pertinent part as follows:

"A deed restriction shall be placed on the property prior to the issuance of a zoning certificate limiting the use to serve adult persons with developmental disabilities."

There are several problems with the deed restriction submitted, which include the following:

(a) The definitions in the proposed Declaration of Restrictions submitted by Majeed G. Makhlouf, Esq. vary from those in the Hudson Land Development Code (the "Code"), and must all be conformed to those definitions. There cannot be any difference or variance from the text of the Code in this regard. The Hudson Planning Commission does not have the power to vary from these definitions; that is a legislative function reserved to City Council under Hudson's Charter.

(b) The definition of "developmentally disabled" that is found in Hudson Land Development Code Section 1213.02 (91) is completely missing from this document and must be added.

(c) There is nothing in the proposed Declaration of Restrictions submitted by Mr. Makhlouf "limiting the use [of the subject parcel] to serve adult persons with developmental disabilities" as set forth in the staff's recommendation and, indeed, as mandated by the Planning Commission at their meeting on November 14, 2022 (see the City's video recording of that meeting at 3:47:30 and 3:57:45). An absolute restriction in this regard must be added to the Declaration of Restrictions.

2. Legal Opinion.

On November 14, 2022, the Planning Commission asked that a legal opinion be submitted relative to the "developer's ability to restrict tenants to those which have developmental disabilities". See Staff Comments – "Other Questions submitted", item No. 2, copy attached.

The letter submitted by Glenn E. Billington (a) is not addressed to the City of Hudson, and does not state that the City may rely on it, as requested by the City Solicitor (see the City's video recording of the Planning Commission's November 14, 2022 meeting at 3:57:45 and 3:58:15), and therefore the City of Hudson would not have the ability to rely on this letter, and (b) the letter does not clearly and unequivocally state that "it is [Mr. Billington's] opinion that Hudson Community Living Company may restrict occupancy of the property to adult persons who are "developmentally disabled", as said term is defined in Section 1213.02(91) of the Hudson Land Development Code, as provided in the attached Declaration of Restrictions by Hudson Community Living Company, an Ohio nonprofit company, in favor of the City of Hudson, Ohio."

This issue is the subject of a difference of opinion. By letter dated November 14, 2022, Mansour Gavin LPA submitted a Memorandum dated November 11, 2022 from Reno & Cavanaugh PLLC in Washington, D.C. on this subject. For example, the Reno & Cavanaugh Memorandum suggests that discriminating in favor of one type of disabled person to the exclusion of other protected classes of disabled people is in fact a form of illegal discrimination. Furthermore, Mr. Billington's opinion fails to address the illegality of segregating disabled people, as mentioned in the Reno & Cavanaugh Memorandum regarding U.S. Supreme Court's decision in the Olmstead case.

I have also just received a second Memorandum dated December 7 , 2022 from Reno & Cavanaugh that is more illuminating and explicit as to the perilous course of action that HCL urges on the City, as well as the consequences (and potential liability) to the City of that course of action. This second Memorandum indicates in clear terms why the City of Solon has proceeded cautiously on a similar development in that city. Hudson should take note of this.

Have the Reno & Cavanaugh Memoranda been given to Mr. Billington? If not, why not? They should be given to him for a response. Mr. Billington should explain if and why he disagrees with the Reno & Cavanaugh Memoranda in his opinion to the City.

If Reno & Cavanaugh's position is correct, and Mr. Billington's position is incorrect, is the City comfortable with (i) its rights and remedies in regards to Mr. Billington's opinion, and (ii) Mr. Billington's claims-paying ability? Please advise on this point.

3. Conclusion.

In conclusion, if Hudson Community Living and the City of Hudson believe that Mr. Billington is correct and Reno Cavanaugh is incorrect on Hudson Community Living's ability to restrict occupants of this project to those who have developmental disabilities, then the changes to the deed restriction discussed in paragraphs 1 (b) and (c) above to limit the use of the property to adult persons with developmental disabilities should not be a problem.

A written response to the above is hereby requested at your earliest convenience.

Please make this communication part of the official record of proceedings in Hudson Planning Commission Case No. 2022-822.

Thank you.

It was nice speaking with you today. Based on our conversation, your priority was receiving a revised site plan for the Hudson Community Living Project. I have uploaded documents that are responsive to that request in a DropBox folder due to the large size of the files. They can be downloaded at the link provided below. I also had Nick Sugar check his emails for any that would be responsive to your request. I have provided a pdf of those as well. Greg Hannan indicated he would not have any original emails on the subject, but would have merely been cc'd on Nick's emails. Those will be pulled when I do a server search.

I will have to perform a server search for PC member emails, Thom Sheridan, and other staff, which will require much more time to produce. I suspect, with the search terms provided, I will pull hundreds, perhaps a thousand or so, emails that will need to be reviewed prior to distributing them. Most will not be relevant to your request. Depending on the number I find when I do the search, I could take until the end of next week to complete the review. I will try to upload them in batches and send them to you as the review is completed, so you will have some as soon as possibly Monday. I will keep you posted on the progress of the remaining search for records. Let me know if you have trouble accessing or downloading files from the DropBox folder. The folder will be accessible for the next 10 business days.

Jody and Greg,

This email is a formal public records request.

Please email me all emails/letters/documents/communications/revised site plans/pdfs that the Hudson Community Living Company or Peninsula Architects has provided to any City of Hudson employee/elected official or appointed official or representative since the last planning commission meeting held in November 2022.

Also, please provide email copies of the requested records to Dan Wright, Don Kurdziel, and Ken Haneline, who are copied on this email.

Please confirm receipt of this email. I will call both of you in the morning to confirm your receipt of this email and to confirm the timeline in which you will provide us with the documents.

Hudson Community Living
Responses for City of Hudson Planning Commission

Staff Comments:

1. A deed restriction shall be placed on the property prior to the issuance of a zoning certificate limiting the use to serve adult persons with Developmental Disabilities. The deed restriction shall be subject to approval by the City Solicitor and shall include a requirement that it cannot be released without approval by City of Hudson Planning Commission. (See attached provided by Majeed G Makhlouf, Esq.)

2. Site plan shall be revised to incorporate the following: a) The repositioning of fencing in the northwest and southeast portions of the site so as to be located closer to the private drive on a higher slope; b) The removal of a three unit building as depicted in figure 2 of this report with consideration of reorienting the drive along the center of the northwest buildings. c) The addition of a sidewalk connection at the south side of the clubhouse as depicted in figure 3 of this report.

    a) We will work with engineering to move the fence as close as possible to requested location. Exact location will be determined by grading and site lines.
    b) We have removed the 3 unit building in our property layout. We do not feel we can change the drive to accommodate the second ask in this request as it breaks up our safe walkway to the clubhouse and brakes up our open space.
    c) Our current site plan adds a walkway to the city sidewalk on the south side of the clubhouse.

3. Submit a landscape planting plan in compliance with the applicable standards of Section 1207.04. (See attached provided by Nate Bailey – Peninsula Architects)

4. The use be required to obtain a new conditional use approval if sold or transitioned to new operators. (See attached provided by Majeed G Makhlouf, Esq.)

5. A variance shall be obtained from the Board of Zoning and Building Appeals from Section 1207.03 Wetland/Stream Corridor Protection to fill the approximate .2 acres of delineated onsite wetlands. Acknowledged, a variance will be obtained.

6. The comments of Assistant City Engineer David Rapp shall be addressed per the November 2, 2022 correspondence.

    We are committed, as required, to meet the standards of the City of Hudson Storm Water Management code. We will work with the city to provide additional storm water measures where applicable and reasonably practical.

Other Questions submitted:

1. Staff comments 1-6, except #4 (from 11.14.22 staff report) – See above

2. Submit a legal opinion for review by the City Solicitor regarding
    I. Developers' ability to restrict tenants to those which have developmental disabilities. (See attached from Glenn Billington, Esq.).
    II. Determination per ORC 5123.19 regarding licensing by the State of Ohio. (See attached from Glenn Billington, Esq.)

3. Submit a detailed landscape planting plan. (See attached from Nate Bailey – Peninsula Architects)

4. Reduce the project density – specific number of units not dictated at the continuance due to the need to first confirm institutional use per item #2 above.

    We respectfully submit the site plan as proposed in the meeting held on Nov 14, 2022.

DECLARATION OF RESTRICTIONS

This Declaration of Restrictions ("Declaration") made this _____ day of _____, 2022, by Hudson Community Living Company, an Ohio nonprofit company ("Declarant") to evidence the following:

W I T N E S S E T H

WHEREAS, Declarant is the owner of property with Summit County, Ohio, Permanent Parcel Numbers 3200331, 3201170, 3200328, and _____ [new PPN that will be created for portion of 3201843 being purchased by Declarant], described in the attached Exhibit A hereto (the "Property");

WHEREAS, Declarant has submitted an application to the City of Hudson ("City") for a conditional use and site plan approval to operate an institutional residential use, either as individuals or roommates within a unit, to serve individuals with developmental disabilities on the Property, including staff ("Proposed Use"); and

WHEREAS, the City has conditioned the approval of the Proposed Use on Declarant's agreeing to use restrictions on the Property as provided herein.

NOW, THEREFORE, Declarant, for itself and its successors and assigns, hereby covenant and declare:

1. Definitions. For purposes of interpreting this Declaration, the following terms shall be defined as follows:

(a) "Condominium" means a form of real property ownership in which a declaration has been filed submitting the property to the condominium form of ownership pursuant to this chapter and under which each owner has an individual ownership interest in a unit with the right to exclusive possession of that unit and an undivided ownership interest with the other unit owners in the common elements of the condominium property.

(b) "Dwelling unit" means rooms providing complete living facilities for one family, including equipment for cooking or provision for the same, and including rooms for living, sleeping, and eating.

(c) "Dwelling" means a structure designed for occupation as a residence by one or more families each living independently in a separate dwelling unit.

(d) "Two-family dwelling" means a detached building designed for occupation as the residence of not more than two families, each living in a separate dwelling unit. The dwelling units may be divided horizontally or vertically.

(e) "Multi-family dwelling" means a structure other than a single-family dwelling, two-family dwelling or institution, designed for occupation as a residence by three or more families each living and occupying rooms in apartments, suites or groups, each such apartment, suite or group comprising a dwelling unit.

a. "Townhouse" means a multi-family dwelling comprised of at least three dwelling units attached by common fireproof walls, each unit having at least two separate exterior entrances on the ground floor, with no common lobby, foyer or similar hallway serving more than one apartment. Included are townhouse types such as atrium house, patio house, rowhouse and attached single-family dwellings.

b. "Apartment" means a multi-family dwelling comprised of three or more dwelling units, apartments, arranged side by side and/or one above the other, and each having a separate entrance or entrances connected to a common outside entrance or entrances.

2. Prohibited Uses. The following uses shall be prohibited and not permitted on the Property for a period of 25 years from the effective date hereof:

(a) Condominium;

(b) Two-family dwellings; and

(c) Multi-family dwellings.

None of the foregoing restrictions may be interpreted in a manner to prohibit or otherwise restrict or limit the operation of the Proposed Use on the Property.

3. Effective Date. The restriction in paragraph 1 shall go into effect only upon the City's approval of Declarant's applications for a conditional use and site plan for the Proposed Use.

4. Enforcement. This Declaration shall be governed by the laws of the State of Ohio. This Declaration is intended for the sole benefit of the City and may be enforced solely by the City. This Declaration may be modified, amended, or revoked by Declarant, its successors, and assigns, in whole or in part, only with the consent of the City by an ordinance enacted by its Council. The City shall have all the rights to which it may be entitled under law or equity to enforce the provisions of this Declaration.

5. Successors in Interest. This Declaration shall run with the land and shall be binding upon Declarants and their successors in interest in perpetuity.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, this Declaration of Restrictions is executed by Declarant this ___ day of _____ 2022.

Dear Chris:

Thank you for asking me for my legal opinion regarding questions from Hudson's Planning Commission. I authorize you to share this with the Commission, County DD Board or any other entity.

For the past 40 years, I have been involved in the highly successful movement to provide safe and humane community-based housing options for persons with developmental disabilities. In the late 1970's I served on the Cuyahoga County Board of Developmental Disabilities. Then Superintendent of that Board, Michael Donzella, along with many others, championed closing the large state institutions of that era and developing small scale community-based living environments for persons with developmental disabilities. When I finished my term on the Board, I was asked by the Superintendent to carry out that vision by representing North Coast Community Homes. Since 1984, I have successfully handled multiple zoning challenges on behalf of North Coast and other similarly situated organizations. There are now approximately 250 such homes in Northeast Ohio and perhaps as many as 1,000 such homes in Ohio. I am not aware of any significant problems associated with such homes.

The City of Hudson deserves respect for recognizing the importance of such housing options and approving the re-zoning of your property for this purpose. Your housing proposal is supported by the Summit County Board of Developmental Disabilities and thus is eligible for funding to meet the unique needs of your future residents.

I have been advised that the Hudson Planning Commission would like a legal opinion which responds to two questions. First, is there a requirement that this housing proposal be licensed by a governmental entity? Second, would it violate the Fair Housing Act to exclude non-disabled persons as potential tenants? My response to both questions is NO, a license is not required and there would be no such violation of the Fair Housing Act.

If it is being asserted that this project requires licensing under ORC Sec. 5123.19 as a Group Home, that is incorrect. These homes would be considered as a Supported Living environment under ORC Sec. 5126.40-47 which does not require licensure. The proposed residents and the caretakers selected by the residents will, however, be subject to oversight and support by the Summit County Board of DD.

The Fair Housing Act protects the legal rights of persons with disabilities. It does not protect any rights of potential non-disabled applicants. The Fair Housing Act prohibits discrimination against individuals with disabilities and requires that reasonable accommodations be made to ensure that persons with disabilities have an equal opportunity to use and enjoy housing. An approval of this proposed development would be consistent with protecting the legal rights of these individuals with disabilities.

In addition, since this property has already been rezoned for a specific use, allowing any person who is not developmentally disabled to reside there (with the exception of staff) would be a violation of the approved use of the property. Also, as a practical matter, it is highly unlikely that any non-disabled persons will apply since the cost to reside in this community will include the cost of staffing the premises. This cost will be higher than the market rates for similar properties that do not provide such services in Hudson.

Finally, if your organization were to allow non-disabled persons to live in its homes, that could violate your organization's IRS Sec 501 (c) (3) public charity status which requires that assets be used exclusively in support of its approved charitable purpose. This would also preclude your non-profit from applying for real estate tax exemptions which must be based on using the properties exclusively for its charitable purposes.

In conclusion, as an Attorney who has focused in these types of issues for over 40 years, I would recommend that the Hudson Planning Commission approve this proposal. The individuals who desire to live here deserve to be treated fairly, equally, and without being subject to discrimination.

Sincerely,

Glenn E. Billington

> Dear Mr. and Mrs. Kurdziel,
> You have requested that we provide you additional analysis regarding the Fair Housing-related implications associated with the proposal by Hudson Community Living Company ("HCLC") to develop Hudson Community Living ("HCL") in the City of Hudson (the "City") as a planned community exclusively for occupancy by individuals with developmental disabilities. You have also requested that we provide an opinion regarding whether the City, through its efforts to facilitate the successful development of HCL, may potentially violate any provisions of the federal Fair Housing Act (the "FHA") and/or any provisions of other federal laws such as the Americans with Disabilities Act (the "ADA"). For the reasons set forth in the attached Analysis, we believe that both HCLC and the City face significant vulnerability if they proceed with HCL as the project is currently envisioned and advertised.

For your convenience, and for ease of reference, below we summarize how each party's actions would, or already do, violate the FHA:

HCLC: HCLC's intention to limit occupancy of HCL exclusively to individuals with developmental disabilities, as described on its website, and based on other publicly available information: (1) would have the effect of denying, or otherwise making unavailable, such housing to any disabled individual who does not have a developmental disability, thereby making housing unavailable because of a person's disability; and (2) violates the FHA's proscription against discriminatory advertisement inasmuch as HCLC has stated a preference, limitation or discrimination based on a protected class (disability).

The City: Through its zoning authority, the City is effectively: (1) facilitating discrimination on the basis of disability; and (2) perpetuating the segregation of the disabled.

As noted, the attached Analysis provides the basis for our conclusions. In addition to violating the FHA, as our Analysis suggests, the City's actions to facilitate the successful development of HCL may also violate Title II of the ADA.

Once you have had an opportunity to review our Analysis, please let us know if you have any questions. Also, please feel free to share our Analysis with anyone you believe would benefit from reading it as this proposal is vetted.

Very truly yours,

Jill Dalrymple

ANALYSIS:

PROPOSED DISABILITY-SPECIFIC COMMUNITY WOULD VIOLATE THE FAIR HOUSING ACT

As a follow-up to our Memorandum dated November 11, 2022, we have been asked to provide additional analysis regarding Hudson Community Living Company's ("HCLC") plan to develop Hudson Community Living ("HCL"), a community intended to be exclusively occupied by individuals with developmental disabilities. In addition, we have been asked to provide an opinion regarding whether the City of Hudson (the "City"), through its efforts to facilitate the successful development of HCL, may potentially violate any provisions of the federal Fair Housing Act (the "FHA") and/or any provisions of other federal laws such as the Americans with Disabilities Act (the "ADA"). For the reasons set forth below, we believe that both HCLC and the City face significant vulnerability if they proceed with HCL as the project is currently planned.

The FHA makes it unlawful to discriminate in the sale or rental of, or to otherwise make unavailable or to deny, a dwelling to any buyer or renter because of a disability. The FHA also makes it unlawful to make, print, or publish, or cause to be made, printed, or published any notice, statement, or advertisement, with respect to the sale or rental of a dwelling that indicates any preference, limitation, or discrimination based on disability or an intention to make any such preference, limitation, or discrimination. 42 U.S.C. § 3604(f)(1) & (c). HCL, as currently proposed, would violate both FHA provisions.

First, HCLC's intention to limit HCL admission exclusively to individuals with developmental disabilities, as described on HCLC's website, and based on other publicly available information, would have the effect of excluding other disabled individuals who would otherwise be eligible and who could benefit from the environment and services provided solely on the basis that such individuals would have the "wrong" type of disability.[1] As a result, such disabled individuals would be denied housing because of their disability, in clear violation of the FHA.

[1] It should be noted that disability is defined very broadly under the FHA. It includes any physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities such as caring for one's self, walking, seeing, hearing, speaking, learning, working, etc. Accordingly, someone who suffered a significant brain injury as the result of a car accident, would qualify as disabled, although the person would not be considered to be developmentally disabled.

Second, even before HCL accepts its first resident, HCLC is violating the above-referenced FHA provision proscribing discriminatory advertisement. By publishing on its website its intent to only house individuals with developmental disabilities, HCLC is indicating a clear preference or limitation based on a protected class. More specifically, HCLC has stated a clear preference for individuals with developmental disabilities to the exclusion of any individual with a different type of disability.

We are aware that HCLC has submitted a legal opinion, prepared by Glenn E. Billington, to the City of Hudson Planning Commission ("HPC") wherein Mr. Billington opined that the proposed HCL development does not violate the FHA. Unfortunately, this legal opinion is of limited value because the only purported FHA-related question Mr. Billington addressed was whether it would "violate the FHA to exclude non-disabled persons as potential tenants." It is unclear, though, why Mr. Billington was even asked to address this particular question.

We have neither asserted nor suggested that the exclusion of non-disabled individuals from admission into HCL would violate the FHA. Indeed, we do not dispute that non-disabled individuals may legally be excluded from admission, as long as such individuals are not excluded on the basis of being a member of another protected class. Again, the relevant inquiry is whether excluding an individual with disabilities from being able to live in the HCL community simply because that individual does not have a specific type of disability, i.e., a developmental disability, violates the FHA.

Mr. Billington's letter utterly fails to address this elemental issue. Rather, Mr. Billington, who acknowledges that the FHA "protects the legal rights of persons with disabilities," asserts that the City's approval of the proposed development "would be consistent with protecting" those rights. Seemingly to demonstrate the merits of HCL's proposed development, Mr. Billington extols the success of North Coast Community Homes ("NCCH"), an organization with which he has been involved for many years. However, based on a cursory review of NCCH's website, any similarities that may exist between the two models of housing are far outweighed by the numerous dissimilarities.

For instance, NCCH owns multiple, separate properties throughout several Ohio counties whereas HCL will consist of multiple residences built on the same property, similar to a campus. In addition, each of the properties NCCH owns has "been adapted to meet the individual needs of people living with intellectual, developmental, physical, and mental disabilities." (Emphasis added.) In contrast, HCL will be limited exclusively to individuals with developmental disabilities, thereby excluding all other disabled individuals without regard to whether such individuals would benefit from the services or programs offered by the community.

However, HUD has made clear for many years that, in the absence of a specific federal law authorizing to the contrary, housing cannot be provided to a group of individuals with a specific type of disability.[2] Therefore, contrary to Mr. Billington's assertion, limiting admission to individuals with developmental disabilities conflicts with HUD's interpretation of the FHA.

Mr. Billington also suggests in his opinion letter that because the property on which HCL is proposed to be developed has been rezoned for a specific use, allowing any person without a developmental disability to reside there would violate the proposed use. The flaw in that argument, however, is that HCL, as currently proposed, fails to fit within the proposed use classification. In addition, in its zeal to facilitate the successful completion of the HCL development, the City has deviated from its own processes and procedures and has taken other actions, such as requiring a deed restriction that would prevent the property owner from "us[ing] the property for any purposes other than to house adult persons with Developmental Disabilities" unless the restriction is released upon the approval of HPC. This restriction, once implemented, would only facilitate discriminatory conduct.

Pursuant to the Supremacy Clause of the U.S. Constitution, federal laws such as the FHA take precedence over any state or local laws that may conflict with the FHA. Accordingly, the FHA "prohibits state and local land use and zoning laws, policies, and practices that discriminate based on a characteristic protected under the [FHA]. Prohibited practices as defined in the [FHA] include making unavailable or denying housing because of a protected characteristic." Joint Statement of the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Department of Justice on State and Local Land Use Laws and Practices of the Application of the Fair Housing Act ("Joint Statement"), Question and Answer 1.

In the instant situation, as described more fully below, the City is using its zoning authority to make housing unavailable to any disabled individual who does not have a developmental disability. In addition to the actions described below, by imposing a land use restriction that limits housing to individuals with a specific type of disability, as well as approving the site on which the project will be developed and requiring and/or approving the separation of the community by a 6-foot privacy fence and a 25-foot natural barrier, the City is arguably perpetuating the segregation of disabled individuals inasmuch as such actions have the effect (or purpose) of segregating those disabled individuals who would be qualified to live in HCL from much of the rest of the community.

According to HUD and the Department of Justice, even a seemingly neutral land use or zoning policy or practice may still violate the FHA if the policy or practice was implemented with discriminatory intent.[3] To determine whether there was discriminatory intent, an analysis will be conducted. Among the factors that would be considered in such an analysis are: (1) whether there is a discriminatory impact on a protected class; (2) the sequence in which events occurred; and (3) departures from a municipality's normal application or zoning requirements. Joint Statement, Question and Answer 3. A review of the City's actions to date to facilitate this project clearly demonstrates a departure from its normal procedures and practices and, in fact, shows a forced attempt to find a way to zone the property on which HCL is proposed to be developed so that HCLC's desire to build on that specific property can be accomplished.

[2] An example of housing authorized by Congress to be limited to individuals with a specific disability is the Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS, or HOPWA, program, which is a program dedicated specifically to the housing needs of persons with AIDS.

[3] It should be noted that the absence of discriminatory intent does not necessarily relieve a state or local government from liability under the FHA. A state or local government may still be liable if the zoning law or practice at issue has an unjustified discriminatory effect because of a protected characteristic.

First, the City has apparently agreed to reclassify the property on which the HCL development is proposed to be constructed to a use classification into which the proposed development does not fit. The proposed use classification, "institutional residential," is defined under the Hudson Codified Ordinance ("Hudson Ordinance") as "residences for nine or more unrelated persons who are elderly or developmentally disabled."

However, HCL will consist of seven individual buildings containing no more than three units per building housing between 4 and 6 total residents. The Hudson Ordinance does not appear to contemplate aggregating separate buildings in order to meet the threshold requirement of at least nine total residents. Rather, the definition refers to the number of unrelated individuals living in an individual dwelling unit.

Not only has the City attempted to fit HCL into an "acceptable" use classification, but the City has also taken steps to sell the real estate on which HCL would be built without following the prescribed process for selling City-owned land. Even if the City is able to make some argument that it has the authority to bypass these requirements, the fact that it has deviated from its normal policies in order to facilitate the ultimate development of HCL would be a factor to consider when determining whether the City has violated the FHA.

In addition to potentially violating the FHA, the City's actions may also violate the ADA. Pursuant to Title II of the ADA, public entities are required to provide disabled individuals an equal opportunity to participate in the public entity's programs, services, and activities. In fulfilling this obligation, the public entity must provide such programs, services, and activities in the most integrated manner possible. Certainly, as previously noted, the proposed location of the project, as well as the physical barriers that would be erected as part of the construction of the project, would seem directly contrary to the ADA's integration policy. Indeed, none of the foregoing characteristics do much to integrate the future residents into the community at large. Similarly, the stated requirement that future residents must sign in and out of the development, gives the community more of an institutional setting rather than an open, integrated community.

Finally, while it does not appear that HCLC will be a recipient of or will utilize federal funds in relation to the development or operation of the HCL community, Mr. Billington's opinion letter references that HCLC's "housing proposal is supported by the Summit County Board of Developmental Disabilities and thus eligible for funding to meet the unique needs of [HCL's] future residents." He also states that the HCL community will be "subject to oversight and support by the Summit County Board of Developmental Disabilities." This raises potential implications under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 ("Section 504"), which protects qualified individuals with disabilities from discrimination solely based on their disability. Under Section 504, a recipient of federal funding may not, for example, deny qualified individuals the opportunity to participate in or benefit from federally funded programs, services, or other benefits. Should either HCLC or HCL receive federal funds flowing through the Summit County Board of Developmental Disabilities, Section 504 may be triggered and, for the same reasons stated above, the exclusion of qualified individuals with disabilities solely on the basis that such individuals have the wrong disability would be problematic.

While we recognize the need for increased residential housing options for persons with disabilities and the national developing trend for parental groups and other housing providers to find creative solutions, federal law does not provide proponents of such housing unfettered discretion to design and implement different housing models. For the reasons stated in our Memorandum and above, we do not believe that the FHA, ADA, and/or other federal laws allow the type of disability-specific or exclusionary community proposed by HCLC. Ultimately, good intentions will not override discriminatory conduct.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

My firm represents Charlotte A. Barton, 142 East Streetsboro Street, Hudson, Ohio, Kenneth G. Henry et ux., 9 Edward Drive, Hudson, Ohio, Wellborn Jack, III et ux (individually and as trustee), 28 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio, and Kenneth M. Haneline et ux, 42 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio with regard to the above matter.

I am following up on my email to you of November 13, 2022 with regard to the captioned matter (below).

1. I had asked in my prior email (below) that the City of Hudson make whatever arrangements were necessary to guaranty everyone's right to be heard. The City staff chose to ignore this request, thereby effectively "cancelling" the voices of many residents on both sides of the issue at hand. This is no different than what we have learned Twitter has done for a long time. Shame on you!

I never thought this would happen in Hudson, but there can be no doubt that this happened. As long-time resident Mary Beth Miller stated on the record at the public hearing in this matter on November 14, there were residents lined up down the stairs and out the door of the century-old Town Hall who wished to speak but were prevented from doing so because of capacity limitations (with the Fire Chief himself stationed on the second floor to prevent admission).

I again ask that the City make whatever arrangements are necessary to guaranty everyone's right to be heard at the Hudson Planning Commission meeting at 7:30 p.m. on December 12, 2022. The free exercise of our rights to free speech and due process are essential to our democracy, and these rights are violated when one cannot gain entrance to a public meeting or hearing due to capacity limitations and other barriers.

2. The second issue I would like to address is the 5-minute limit on comments from citizens and their counsel. I am not aware of the Planning Commission imposing this limit in the past (at least in the last few years), and found it surprising and discriminatory, particularly towards my clients and the many other citizens who oppose Hudson Community Living's development. To give the proponents hours of time to present their proposal, then limit comments from opponents to 5 minutes, is ludicrous. Each side must be given equal time at all meetings and public hearings. The public hearing in this matter is now closed so, unfortunately, the damage is done.

Our clients reserve, and do not waive, all rights, remedies and claims whatsoever against all parties whomsoever relative to the within subject matter and all related matters.

Please make this email a part of the official record of proceedings in the above-captioned matter, and acknowledge your receipt of this email via return email.

Subject: RE: Hudson Community Living LLC's request for Conditional Use and Major Development Site Plan approval – 33 South Oviatt Street, Hudson, Ohio 44236 - Hudson Planning Commission Case No. 2022-822
Importance: High

Ladies and Gentlemen:

My firm represents Charlotte A. Barton, 142 East Streetsboro Street, Hudson, Ohio, Kenneth G. Henry et ux., 9 Edward Drive, Hudson, Ohio, Wellborn Jack, III et ux (individually and as trustee), 28 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio, and Kenneth M. Haneline et ux, 42 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio with regard to the above matter.

1. With regard to the public hearing on November 14, 2022, we expect anywhere from 30-60 people from the immediate neighborhood who support our clients' position. It is likely that Hudson Community Living will have a large number of supporters there as well. Both Wellborn Jack and Dr. and Mrs. Rigby have sent emails to City staff expressing concern about the ability of the Town Hall to accommodate the number of residents who wish to make their voices heard on this matter. As you well know, the neighbors have a right to be heard. Consequently, I ask that you make whatever arrangements are necessary to guaranty everyone's right to be heard.

2. Local issues can sometimes cause emotions to run high. I imagine that all present at the public hearing will conduct themselves with civility and decorum, as befits our town. Nevertheless, with such a large crowd, it may be wise for you to consider having Hudson's safety forces provide a presence at this public hearing.

3. As indicated in my letter to the Hudson Planning Commission dated November 11, 2022, I requested the information relative to the calculation of density for this development under Sections 1201.07(f) and 1205.06(d) of the Hudson Land Development Code from the Hudson Community Development Department on September 23, 2022, September 26, 2022, October 19, 2022, and again on October 28, 2022, and from Mr. Sheridan on November 7, 2022. I have still not received this information.It is apparently the developer's position, and the City staff's position, that there are no density requirements for this development. Our question is: "Where in the code does it say 'the residential density requirements in Sections 1201.07(f) and 1205.06 (d) do not apply to "institutional residential uses"'?". The City staff needs to show us these provisions, and if they do not exist, provide a calculation of the density for this development pursuant to these sections.

4. I filed a request for public records under the Ohio Public Records Act with the City of Hudson on October 20, and then filed a second request for public records with the City of Hudson on October 28, 2022. I received a response from the City of Hudson on November 10 at 12:26 p.m. (for the record, the City Solicitor's letter to me with regard to this subject is attached to this email). Given this response, the timeframes involved, and the volume of materials produced, it is difficult to determine if the production is complete, much less read and assimilate the information produced. Furthermore, I understand that the Planning Commission has discussed (and perhaps adopted) a rule that requires an application for site plan approval to be complete 4 weeks prior to a meeting. I call your attention to the fact that the new traffic study that is a part of this application is dated November 3, 2022, and the storm water/wetlands letter submitted with respect to this matter is dated October 17, 2022, but is inconclusive and incomplete. All of these materials were first made available to the public on November 10, 2022. Obviously, all materials were not submitted 4 weeks prior to the public hearing, and the application was not complete as of October 17.

   "Trial by ambush" is never the fair and just way to do things. Consequently, we ask that this application be tabled until the application is complete and final, and 4 weeks have passed to allow for citizen review and comment.

Our clients reserve, and do not waive, all rights, remedies and claims whatsoever against all parties whomsoever relative to the within subject matter and all related matters.

Please make this letter a part of the official record of proceedings in the above-captioned matter, and acknowledge your receipt of this letter via return email.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Patrick OHearn

Dear Hudson Planning Commission,

I am writing today in strong support of the Hudson Community Living (HCL) project. I am writing you both as a concerned citizen of Hudson and in my professional capacity as a Developmental Behavioral Pediatrician. I have spent my career working with individuals and families affected by developmental disabilities, in fact, my career is what moved my family to Hudson just over 7 years ago for my current job at Akron Children's. I spent several years training and teaching in LEND programs (Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities) both at the University of Kansas and at the Nisonger Center at The Ohio State University. I have worked as a Developmental Pediatrician at Nationwide Children's and also spent several years as Title V Children with Special Healthcare Needs Director at the Ohio Department of Health where I also served on the Ohio Developmental Disabilities Council. Currently I am Director of Developmental Behavioral Pediatrics at Akron Children's Hospital. I share my credentials here to emphasize my deep experience working with this population as a clinician, an educator, in public policy and always as an advocate.

The HCL integrated community project is innovative, it has been meticulously planned, and we should be proud to have the opportunity to support the HCL in our Hudson community. I have worked with countless individuals and families with autism, intellectual disabilities and related developmental disabilities. Unfortunately, transition to adulthood is extremely challenging for families and for many parents, they have lived with the fear of what will happen to their adult child in the future from the time of their child's diagnosis, often in early childhood. Individuals with developmental disabilities are a part of the spectrum of human neurodiversity. They may have different ways of communicating or behaving, or interests that are different than other adults, but we should be embracing these differences. All human beings deserve to be independent, productive and happy and a neighborhood like HCL will afford that basic right by providing truly meaningful and integrated living for individuals with developmental disabilities in our community. The peace of mind this community will afford each individuals family and caregivers cannot be overstated. When families are supported and know their loved ones are well cared for, they can be available to contribute to their community as well, which is a win for Hudson. Additionally, I doubt I need to explain the economic benefits of this project to this audience. Finally, our Hudson children will have the opportunity to grow up in a community that is truly inclusive for individuals with developmental disabilities instead of a community that simply gives lip service to the idea. I am concerned about the sentiment that we are very supportive of this fantastic and well-planned project, "but not in my backyard".

Thank you for your attention to this very important matter. This is an amazing opportunity not only for the individuals who will live together as a part of this supportive living environment and their families, but also for our Hudson community. I urge you to use your leadership position to support the HCL project in every way possible for the greater good of our community.

Sincerely,

Jessica Foster MD, MPH, FAAP

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear City of Hudson Planning Commission:

The Autism Society of Greater Akron (ASGA) is the local nonprofit organization supporting individuals and families impacted by Autism and other developmental disabilities in Summit, Stark, Portage, Medina and Wayne counties.

On behalf of the board and staff of ASGA, we urge the Planning Commission to support the Hudson Community Living (HCL) project, helping to ensure that everyone – regardless of their different abilities – has access and enjoys all the many benefits of living in Summit County and the City of Hudson.

Projects like HCL are being planned across Ohio – and the nation – to support integrated communities, where people with disabilities have access to the same social, employment, healthcare and recreational engagement as their non-disabled peers. HCL is an innovative neighborhood where individuals with disabilities can live among their peers, while still living near citizens of the non-disabled community. This "community within a community" also provides an additional layer of safety and security, a Friends Network and support for individuals who may need extra help due to their differences, setting residents up for success as part of their living environment.

Successful community integration gives people with disabilities a strong sense of community without reducing them to solely a disability label. A community that opens its doors to all benefits economically with the addition of residents who work, pay taxes and spend their dollars in the City of Hudson. In other words, everyone benefits when we come together as one community, not segregating some from others.

We appreciate your thoughtful consideration of this important project and look forward to providing ongoing support. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at (330) 940-1441 x3 or Laurie@autismakron.org.

Sincerely,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Monica Andersen

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Natasha Wells-Niklas

Dear Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I am writing in 100% support of Hudson Community Living (HCL) and kindly request that you approve this phenomenal development at the Planning Commission Meeting on December 12.

From my understanding, HCL has closely worked with and followed the guidance of city leaders. HCL has been transparent and HCL has gone above and beyond to work with any interested parties. HCL has conducted a public meeting to present the truth about the project, answer questions, address concerns, and squelch the odd and strange rumors with the actual facts.

HCL will be a "Village within The Village". The HCL residences will be a dream come true for the future residents (including my daughter Nelia), their families, and the thousands of HCL supporters. HCL supporters reside here in Hudson and the Northeast Ohio region, but HCL support spans the nation and the world.

Based on the information I've read and personally witnessed, virtually everyone believes HCL is a great idea. At every HCL related meeting, I've observed almost unanimously (even amongst HCL's most adamant opponents) that "This is a great idea and project…". Then, the opponents throw in a series of "buts" and questions seemingly aimed at delaying or stopping HCL altogether.

This HCL "Village within The Village" will become the crown jewel of The Golden Triangle, and a tremendous example to be duplicated regionally and nationally. It would be a shame to miss out on this Great Solution, in search of Perfection.

Mahatma Gandhi once said: "the true measure of any society can be found in how it treats its most vulnerable members."

Please approve Hudson Community Living on Dec. 12 and demonstrate how the vast majority of Hudson residents treat their friends and neighbors with developmental disabilities.

Sincerely,
Keith Cullen

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Hudson City Planning Commission members,

I am writing to express my complete support for Hudson Community Living (HCL) and its proposed location adjacent to Barlow Community Center.

I'm an 18-year Hudson resident. My husband Jeff and I have raised our three sons here in Hudson. Unfortunately, Jeff passed away three months ago after battling both cancer and leukemia. I know that Jeff would be writing this letter with me if he was still here.

Jeff's nephew Ben was diagnosed at a young age with Asperger syndrome on the autism spectrum. Ben is the most gentle, most kind, most intelligent young man I've ever met, and he is the best cousin to our sons. The world is a better place because of Ben.

Unfortunately, because of his diagnosis, Ben will never be able to live completely on his own. He currently resides at home in Canton with my aging brother and sister-in-law. Ben works full-time, drives independently, and is a published author. He just needs a little help. Most importantly, when his parents are no longer able to guide him, Ben deserves to continue having a secure, comfortable life and home as he's had for 29 years. How incredible it would be to see Hudson lead the way in providing a beautiful inclusive community for Ben's peers here in Hudson, as well as establish a model for other cities to use in their continued planning and support of their developmentally disabled residents.

Please vote YES to support this absolutely vital HCL community. EVERY Hudson resident, especially our most vulnerable, should be able to continue fully, joyfully, and independently living in a supportive and inclusive environment.

Thank you for your time.

Best regards,
Kelly Dine

Good evening,

I hope you are well and ready for the holiday season. I recently learned about the Hudson Community Living initiative and hope you will consider allowing it to move forward.
As an aide at Hudson Middle School, I often work closely with young people with special needs. I've seen firsthand how they truly thrive and grow in an environment where they are supported, encouraged and loved, and I've often wondered (and worried) about their futures & how they would fair in an environment that may not offer them this support.
Hudson is such a wonderful and unique city already, and something like HCL would give them the independence that they (and their parents) desire as well as the security, familiarity & support that they thrive in.
Please consider HCL as an option for them and their loved ones.

Thank you,

Leah Peterson

There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

I want to express my excitement when I learned of the development being in the works for the adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are not for supporting a beautiful place for these young adults to live and to be a part of the Hudson Community. I have worked in Hudson for 20 years and 5 years with the Summit County Preschool program for children with disabilities. The most important part of my job that was hammered into me was that acceptance depended on the many avenues through opportunities given to children. Hudson schools have created programs with teacher's guidance to work on skills for independent living and job skills to work at a job in the Hudson Community.
We all know the saying,"It takes a village to raise a child."
Meaning the whole community of people needs to interact with children. To provide a safe and healthy environment. These responsible parents raised $5 million to privately fund this project and tirelessly worked for the future of the children. Please Don"t let this project be halted or stopped. I believe it is important to build this center! I believe adult children can live there fully enjoying a life filled with friendships and to live independently in supported environments. In a community that is familiar because they have grown up and participated in many events.
I am retired from Hudson schools and worked with many of these adult children. I recently was Cuyahoga Falls Natatorium. As I was walking in the center. I heard a familiar voice say, "I know you."
There was a group of Hudson's adult children with disabilities on their Friday outing. The smiles and conversation with four of them was the highlight of my day. Everyone in the group was smiling, some asking who I was. My friends explained that I was Ms. Stincic. Many connections were being made. I have stayed friends with some of their parents and was hoping to visit many of them at their new home in September.
I can't help but think that once again these beautiful adult children are being discriminated against because of their disabilities. I heard a comment that was said, " yes, there is a need but just not here. '
That is a kick in the gut.

Thank You,
Debra Stincic

Hello!

My husband, Scott and I live at 130 Aurora Street in hudson - very close to where the proposed neighborhood is planned. We are so excited to see that Hudson will be home to such a wonderful community of young adults! My youngest brother, Jeff was fortunate to have lived in a similar situation in Brevard, NC for most of his adult life and it was an incredibly rewarding experience for both the young men in his supervised home as well as the surrounding community. My brother worked in town, volunteered at the theater breaking down sets, was a regular at his favorite restaurants (where they knew him by name and greeted him with open arms), walked to the local music nights and festivals and was an enthusiastic supporter of his adopted home town and they of him.

I have heard there is some apprehension from a small minority of residents who do not want a planned community “in their backyard". I hope this will not dissuade you from approving what is clearly a well thought out, forward thinking and mutually beneficial plan. Whether it’s the middle school (like us), grocery store, fire station, community center or campus dorms, everyone who lives downtown is close to or on top of some integral part of the community. It’s part of the joy of living in town.

I have no doubt that given the chance, Hudson Community Living will also become an integral part of the mix and the concerns of the minority will be eased as they get to know the residents. As our children already know through the wonderful inclusion programs in Hudson Schools, the developmentally challenged want nothing more than any other resident. To be safe. To be respected. To have the pride of a purposeful job and the joy of independence.

My brother was able to enjoy all of those things during his lifetime due to the forward thinking of the community where he lived and worked. That program is still going strong and has enriched the lives of many. Let’s keep moving forward.

Sincerely,

Laura Honnold

Re: Hudson Community Living LLC's request for Conditional Use and Major Development Site Plan approval – 33 South Oviatt Street, Hudson, Ohio 44236 - Hudson Planning Commission Case No. 2022-822

Ladies and Gentlemen:

My firm represents Charlotte A. Barton, 142 East Streetsboro Street, Hudson, Ohio, Kenneth G. Henry et ux., 9 Edward Drive, Hudson, Ohio, Wellborn Jack, III et ux (individually and as trustee), 28 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio, and Kenneth M. Haneline et ux, 42 Fox Trace Lane, Hudson, Ohio with regard to the above matter.

I am following up on (a) my letter dated November 11, 2022 addressed to Hudson Planning Commission and Mr. Pitchford relative to the captioned matter, and (b) my separate letter dated November 14, 2022 to Mr. Pitchford making a taxpayer demand pursuant to Ohio Revised Code Section 733.59, both of which are incorporated herein at length by reference.

The purpose of this letter is to comment on what we believe to be the most current site plan submitted to the City of Hudson by Hudson Community Living ("HCL") in Case No. 2022-822 (Peninsula Architects "Site/Landscaping Plan – AHBR Revised" No. L1.00B last revised 11/28/22, copy attached, referred to herein as the "Site Plan"), which was obtained by Wellborn Jack in an email from the City of Hudson dated December 1, 2022, at 4:44 p.m.

1. Compatibility.

HCL's proposed development cannot be deemed "physically and operationally compatible with the surrounding neighborhood and surrounding existing uses" under Section 1206.02(b)(2) of the Code.

For example, HCL's proposed development at 33 Oviatt Street is bordered by historic residential to the north, outer village residential to the south, high-end outer village residential to the east, and a mix of historic residential, commercial, and public uses to the west. HCL's proposed development is completely incompatible with these surrounding neighborhoods.

Compare this to the Phase II site adjacent to the intersection of Morse Rd. and Owen Brown St. in downtown Hudson, which is surrounded by the Villas of Hudson (residential cluster housing) to the north, Hudson Commons (residential condominiums) to the south, a mix of historic residential, office and retail uses, and the Hudson Library to the east, and the Versailles apartments to the west. HCL's proposed development would be compatible with the neighborhoods surrounding the Phase II site.

This contrast demonstrates the incompatibility of HCL's proposed development at 33 Oviatt Street with the surrounding neighborhoods.

2. Density.

The Density proposed for this project as shown on the Site Plan is still much too high, and does not comply with the requirements of the Hudson Land Development Code (the "Code").

As previously stated, a "home" or "dwelling unit" is "the place where one lives". None of the dwelling units in this project will be used for 9 or more unrelated persons. Consequently, the use proposed is not an "institutional residential use" under Section 1213.02(160) of the Code. Furthermore, nowhere in the Code does it say that (a) the density requirements in Sections 1201.07(f) and 1205.06(d) of the Code, and (b) any of the other requirements in the Code that are applicable to residential development, do not apply to "institutional residential uses", which is, after all, a residential use.

Consequently, this is simply a multi-unit residential development and should be subject to all of the requirements in the Code that apply to residential development in District 3.

3. Site Plan.

We have the following comments relative to the Site Plan:

1. The Site Plan shows units stacked above the ground floor units, which as rental apartments are "commercial space". This is not permitted in District 3 per the use table contained in Section 1206.01 (a copy of the relevant page thereof is attached). This stacking must be eliminated.
2. The Site Plan shows one duplex without a unit above, the density of which must be calculated at 2.5 units per acre under Section 1205.06(d)(1).
3. The Site Plan shows 3 duplexes that have one unit above. These "triplexes" do not fit the definition of a duplex in Section 1213.02(105) of the Code, but would fit that definition if the units above were eliminated, the density for which must be calculated at 2.5 units per acre under Section 1205.06(d)(1).

4. The Site Plan also shows 2 triplexes that have one unit above. These "fourplexes" do not fit the definition of a "dwelling, townhome" under Section 1213.02(111) of the Code because (a) they each have a unit above, and (b) the units above do not have front and rear access to the outside as required by that definition. These "fourplexes" would fit within the definition of "dwelling, single-family attached" in Section 1213.02(109) of the Code if the units stacked above the commercial space (rental apartments) are eliminated. Once the units stacked above are eliminated, the density for these two "dwelling, single family attached" buildings must be calculated at 4.0 units per acre under Section 1205.06(d)(1).
5. The current plan shows 19 units on the 3.9533-acre site, or an overall density of 4.8 units, which is 2.4 times the existing density in District 3 as stated in 1205.06(a) of the Code, and almost double the permitted density (calculated at the standard for duplexes set forth in Section 1205.06(d) of the Code). How is this compatible with the surrounding neighborhood and surrounding existing uses?

4. Power of the Planning Commission.

HCL has proposed that the Planning Commission reclassify HCL's site at 33 Oviatt Street to a use classification into which the proposed development does not fit. The proposed use classification, "institutional residential", is defined in the Code as "residences for nine or more unrelated persons who are elderly or developmentally disabled."

HCL's development, as shown on the Site Plan, will consist of six individual buildings containing no more than three units per building housing between 4 and 6 total residents. The Code does not contemplate aggregating separate buildings in order to meet the threshold requirement of at least nine total residents. Rather, the definition refers to the number of unrelated individuals living in an individual dwelling unit.

Accomplishing HCL's proposed reading of Section 1213.02(160) of the Code would require the following text amendments to that section (the text amendments required to reach the result proposed by HCL are shown in bold below):

> "(160) "Institutional residential uses" shall mean residences for nine or more unrelated persons in (a) one building, or (b) in multiple buildings located on one parcel under one ownership, who are elderly or developmentally disabled and who may or may not require facilities and services including restorative care and treatment, nursing services, aid with daily living skills, meal service, regular or as-needed medical supervision, social care, or other services that are supportive, restorative, or preventive in nature. Institutional residential uses include, but are not limited to, long-term care facilities, nursing homes, group homes for nine or more clients, and intermediate care facilities. "Institutional residential uses" do not include assisted living facilities, group homes for eight or fewer clients, day > care centers, or family day care homes. The requirements of the Code relative to residential development in the City shall not apply to institutional residential uses."

There has been discussion that the Planning Commission may "interpret" the Code; what Hudson Community Living is asking the Planning Commission to do is make up provisions out of whole cloth that are not in the Code and add text that is not there! This is a legislative function, reserved to the City Council under the Hudson Charter, and as such it is well beyond the power of the Planning Commission.

The Planning Commission must work solely within the "four corners" of the Code as written, not as HCL would like it to be, which is what is happening here.

5. Conclusion.

The high-density housing proposed by Hudson Community Living is out of character with the surrounding homes and neighborhoods, and does not comply with the Code. Consequently, both HCL's conditional use application and its site plan must be rejected by the Planning Commission. The requirements in the Land Development Code exist for a purpose, and should be upheld; otherwise, why have the Land Development Code at all?

Our clients reserve, and do not waive, all rights, remedies and claims whatsoever against all parties whomsoever relative to the within subject matter and all related matters.

Please make this letter a part of the official record of proceedings in the above-captioned matter, and acknowledge your receipt of this letter via return email.

Very truly yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Aharon Faiman

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

Nothing says more about the character and quality of a community than how it responds to, and cares for those who are in need. We have spent time in the community of Hudson and found it to be outstanding in many ways; the lovely downtown green, local town feel, music on the green are just a few of the assets that make Hudson special.

We write to voice our enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living project. This first class facility for a special group of Hudson residents speaks volumes about what Hudson is about and what Hudson can acheive. HCL is so unique, we expect it will become a national model for inclusion of persons with developmental disabilities, shining a positive spotlight on Hudson and its residents.

We understand there is a small group of residents opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in Hudson and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. Our granddaughter, Sarah graduated from Hudson High School and is an integral part of the community. Her parents, Dave, business owner and marketing expert and Cordula, a nurse have cared for Sarah at home for 22 years. Hudson Community Living offers an opportunity for her parents to have support that is much needed and have Sarah in a caring, loving, supportive and safe enviornment.

The founding members of Hudson Community Living have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million to privately fund the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of Hudson City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

We asked that you don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there.

We are enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

To Whom it May Concern:

We write this email to express our support for the proposed Hudson Community Living development. As a parents of 3 children who attended Hudson Schools from K-12, We know, as I'm sure most of you know, what a fantastic program our schools have developed for children with developmental disabilities. The interaction that our children had with their classmates with special needs was positive and enriching. It taught them kindness, compassion, and empathy. As these children have reached adulthood, they need a place where they can live independently and safely. The location is ideal because of its central location and walkability to the many amenities that downtown Hudson has to offer. The proposed facility will not only benefit the residents who will live there and their families, it will be a tremendous asset to the Hudson community. These adults with developmental disabilities have so much to offer our community. We see it every time we shop at Acme. A facility like Hudson Community Living will further set Hudson apart from other communities. It will be a source of pride for Hudson and will further enrich our community. This proposal deserves your support.

Sincerely,

Carrie and Tom. Bevan

> Dear Mr. and Mrs. Kurdziel,
> You have requested that we provide you additional analysis regarding the Fair Housing-related implications associated with the proposal by Hudson Community Living Company ("HCLC") to develop Hudson Community Living ("HCL") in the City of Hudson (the "City") as a planned community exclusively for occupancy by individuals with developmental disabilities. You have also requested that we provide an opinion regarding whether the City, through its efforts to facilitate the successful development of HCL, may potentially violate any provisions of the federal Fair Housing Act (the "FHA") and/or any provisions of other federal laws such as the Americans with Disabilities Act (the "ADA"). For the reasons set forth in the attached Analysis,

we believe that both HCLC and the City face significant vulnerability if they proceed with HCL as the project is currently envisioned and advertised.

For your convenience, and for ease of reference, below we summarize how each party's actions would, or already do, violate the FHA:

HCLC: HCLC's intention to limit occupancy of HCL exclusively to individuals with developmental disabilities, as described on its website, and based on other publicly available information: (1) would have the effect of denying, or otherwise making unavailable, such housing to any disabled individual who does not have a developmental disability, thereby making housing unavailable because of a person's disability; and (2) violates the FHA's proscription against discriminatory advertisement inasmuch as HCLC has stated a preference, limitation or discrimination based on a protected class (disability).

The City: Through its zoning authority, the City is effectively: (1) facilitating discrimination on the basis of disability; and (2) perpetuating the segregation of the disabled.

As noted, the attached Analysis provides the basis for our conclusions. In addition to violating the FHA, as our Analysis suggests, the City's actions to facilitate the successful development of HCL may also violate Title II of the ADA.

Once you have had an opportunity to review our Analysis, please let us know if you have any questions. Also, please feel free to share our Analysis with anyone you believe would benefit from reading it as this proposal is vetted.

Very truly yours,

Jill Dalrymple

ANALYSIS:

PROPOSED DISABILITY-SPECIFIC COMMUNITY WOULD VIOLATE THE FAIR HOUSING ACT

As a follow-up to our Memorandum dated November 11, 2022, we have been asked to provide additional analysis regarding Hudson Community Living Company's ("HCLC") plan to develop Hudson Community Living ("HCL"), a community intended to be exclusively occupied by individuals with developmental disabilities. In addition, we have been asked to provide an opinion regarding whether the City of Hudson (the "City"), through its efforts to facilitate the successful development of HCL, may potentially violate any provisions of the federal Fair Housing Act (the "FHA") and/or any provisions of other federal laws such as the Americans with Disabilities Act (the "ADA"). For the reasons set forth below, we believe that both HCLC and the City face significant vulnerability if they proceed with HCL as the project is currently planned.

The FHA makes it unlawful to discriminate in the sale or rental of, or to otherwise make unavailable or to deny, a dwelling to any buyer or renter because of a disability. The FHA also makes it unlawful to make, print, or publish, or cause to be made, printed, or published any notice, statement, or advertisement, with respect to the sale or rental of a dwelling that indicates any preference, limitation, or discrimination based on disability or an intention to make any such preference, limitation, or discrimination. 42 U.S.C. § 3604(f)(1) & (c). HCL, as currently proposed, would violate both FHA provisions.

First, HCLC's intention to limit HCL admission exclusively to individuals with developmental disabilities, as described on HCLC's website, and based on other publicly available information, would have the effect of excluding other disabled individuals who would otherwise be eligible and who could benefit from the environment and services provided solely on the basis that such individuals would have the "wrong" type of disability.[1] As a result, such disabled individuals would be denied housing because of their disability, in clear violation of the FHA.

[1] It should be noted that disability is defined very broadly under the FHA. It includes any physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities such as caring for one's self, walking, seeing, hearing, speaking, learning, working, etc. Accordingly, someone who suffered a significant brain injury as the result of a car accident, would qualify as disabled, although the person would not be considered to be developmentally disabled.

Second, even before HCL accepts its first resident, HCLC is violating the above-referenced FHA provision proscribing discriminatory advertisement. By publishing on its website its intent to only house individuals with developmental disabilities, HCLC is indicating a clear preference or limitation based on a protected class. More specifically, HCLC has stated a clear preference for individuals with developmental disabilities to the exclusion of any individual with a different type of disability.

We are aware that HCLC has submitted a legal opinion, prepared by Glenn E. Billington, to the City of Hudson Planning Commission ("HPC") wherein Mr. Billington opined that the proposed HCL development does not violate the FHA. Unfortunately, this legal opinion is of limited value because the only purported FHA-related question Mr. Billington addressed was whether it would "violate the FHA to exclude non-disabled persons as potential tenants." It is unclear, though, why Mr. Billington was even asked to address this particular question.

We have neither asserted nor suggested that the exclusion of non-disabled individuals from admission into HCL would violate the FHA. Indeed, we do not dispute that non-disabled individuals may legally be excluded from admission, as long as such individuals are not excluded on the basis of being a member of another protected class. Again, the relevant inquiry is whether excluding an individual with disabilities from being able to live in the HCL community simply because that individual does not have a specific type of disability, i.e., a developmental disability, violates the FHA.

Mr. Billington's letter utterly fails to address this elemental issue. Rather, Mr. Billington, who acknowledges that the FHA "protects the legal rights of persons with disabilities," asserts that the City's approval of the proposed development "would be consistent with protecting" those rights. Seemingly to demonstrate the merits of HCL's proposed development, Mr. Billington extols the success of North Coast Community Homes ("NCCH"), an organization with which he has been involved for many years. However, based on a cursory review of NCCH's website, any similarities that may exist between the two models of housing are far outweighed by the numerous dissimilarities.

For instance, NCCH owns multiple, separate properties throughout several Ohio counties whereas HCL will consist of multiple residences built on the same property, similar to a campus. In addition, each of the properties NCCH owns has "been adapted to meet the individual needs of people living with intellectual, developmental, physical, and mental disabilities." (Emphasis added.) In contrast, HCL will be limited exclusively to individuals with developmental disabilities, thereby excluding all other disabled individuals without regard to whether such individuals would benefit from the services or programs offered by the community.

However, HUD has made clear for many years that, in the absence of a specific federal law authorizing to the contrary, housing cannot be provided to a group of individuals with a specific type of disability.[2] Therefore, contrary to Mr. Billington's assertion, limiting admission to individuals with developmental disabilities conflicts with HUD's interpretation of the FHA.

Mr. Billington also suggests in his opinion letter that because the property on which HCL is proposed to be developed has been rezoned for a specific use, allowing any person without a developmental disability to reside there would violate the proposed use. The flaw in that argument, however, is that HCL, as currently proposed, fails to fit within the proposed use classification. In addition, in its zeal to facilitate the successful completion of the HCL development, the City has deviated from its own processes and procedures and has taken other actions, such as requiring a deed restriction that would prevent the property owner from "us[ing] the property for any purposes other than to house adult persons with Developmental Disabilities" unless the restriction is released upon the approval of HPC. This restriction, once implemented, would only facilitate discriminatory conduct.

Pursuant to the Supremacy Clause of the U.S. Constitution, federal laws such as the FHA take precedence over any state or local laws that may conflict with the FHA. Accordingly, the FHA "prohibits state and local land use and zoning laws, policies, and practices that discriminate based on a characteristic protected under the [FHA]. Prohibited practices as defined in the [FHA] include making unavailable or denying housing because of a protected characteristic." Joint Statement of the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Department of Justice on State and Local Land Use Laws and Practices of the Application of the Fair Housing Act ("Joint Statement"), Question and Answer 1.

In the instant situation, as described more fully below, the City is using its zoning authority to make housing unavailable to any disabled individual who does not have a developmental disability. In addition to the actions described below, by imposing a land use restriction that limits housing to individuals with a specific type of disability, as well as approving the site on which the project will be developed and requiring and/or approving the separation of the community by a 6-foot privacy fence and a 25-foot natural barrier, the City is arguably perpetuating the segregation of disabled individuals inasmuch as such actions have the effect (or purpose) of segregating those disabled individuals who would be qualified to live in HCL from much of the rest of the community.

According to HUD and the Department of Justice, even a seemingly neutral land use or zoning policy or practice may still violate the FHA if the policy or practice was implemented with discriminatory intent.[3] To determine whether there was discriminatory intent, an analysis will be conducted. Among the factors that would be considered in such an analysis are: (1) whether there is a discriminatory impact on a protected class; (2) the sequence in which events occurred; and (3) departures from a municipality's normal application or zoning requirements. Joint Statement, Question and Answer 3. A review of the City's actions to date to facilitate this project clearly demonstrates a departure from its normal procedures and practices and, in fact, shows a forced attempt to find a way to zone the property on which HCL is proposed to be developed so that HCLC's desire to build on that specific property can be accomplished.

[2] An example of housing authorized by Congress to be limited to individuals with a specific disability is the Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS, or HOPWA, program, which is a program dedicated specifically to the housing needs of persons with AIDS.

[3] It should be noted that the absence of discriminatory intent does not necessarily relieve a state or local government from liability under the FHA. A state or local government may still be liable if the zoning law or practice at issue has an unjustified discriminatory effect because of a protected characteristic.

First, the City has apparently agreed to reclassify the property on which the HCL development is proposed to be constructed to a use classification into which the proposed development does not fit. The proposed use classification, "institutional residential," is defined under the Hudson Codified Ordinance ("Hudson Ordinance") as "residences for nine or more unrelated persons who are elderly or developmentally disabled."

However, HCL will consist of seven individual buildings containing no more than three units per building housing between 4 and 6 total residents. The Hudson Ordinance does not appear to contemplate aggregating separate buildings in order to meet the threshold requirement of at least nine total residents. Rather, the definition refers to the number of unrelated individuals living in an individual dwelling unit.

Not only has the City attempted to fit HCL into an "acceptable" use classification, but the City has also taken steps to sell the real estate on which HCL would be built without following the prescribed process for selling City-owned land. Even if the City is able to make some argument that it has the authority to bypass these requirements, the fact that it has deviated from its normal policies in order to facilitate the ultimate development of HCL would be a factor to consider when determining whether the City has violated the FHA.

In addition to potentially violating the FHA, the City's actions may also violate the ADA. Pursuant to Title II of the ADA, public entities are required to provide disabled individuals an equal opportunity to participate in the public entity's programs, services, and activities. In fulfilling this obligation, the public entity must provide such programs, services, and activities in the most integrated manner possible. Certainly, as previously noted, the proposed location of the project, as well as the physical barriers that would be erected as part of the construction of the project, would seem directly contrary to the ADA's integration policy. Indeed, none of the foregoing characteristics do much to integrate the future residents into the community at large. Similarly, the stated requirement that future residents must sign in and out of the development, gives the community more of an institutional setting rather than an open, integrated community.

Finally, while it does not appear that HCLC will be a recipient of or will utilize federal funds in relation to the development or operation of the HCL community, Mr. Billington's opinion letter references that HCLC's "housing proposal is supported by the Summit County Board of Developmental Disabilities and thus eligible for funding to meet the unique needs of [HCL's] future residents." He also states that the HCL community will be "subject to oversight and support by the Summit County Board of Developmental Disabilities." This raises potential implications under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 ("Section 504"), which protects qualified individuals with disabilities from discrimination solely based on their disability. Under Section

504, a recipient of federal funding may not, for example, deny qualified individuals the opportunity to participate in or benefit from federally funded programs, services, or other benefits. Should either HCLC or HCL receive federal funds flowing through the Summit County Board of Developmental Disabilities, Section 504 may be triggered and, for the same reasons stated above, the exclusion of qualified individuals with disabilities solely on the basis that such individuals have the wrong disability would be problematic.

While we recognize the need for increased residential housing options for persons with disabilities and the national developing trend for parental groups and other housing providers to find creative solutions, federal law does not provide proponents of such housing unfettered discretion to design and implement different housing models. For the reasons stated in our Memorandum and above, we do not believe that the FHA, ADA, and/or other federal laws allow the type of disability-specific or exclusionary community proposed by HCLC. Ultimately, good intentions will not override discriminatory conduct.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Frank Williamson

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

Hello. My name is Sarah and I am a resident of Hudson. I have a disability and hope to make Hudson Community Living my home. Please vote "Yes" on the HCL neighborhood.
I have dreams. As an adult, I want to live with my friends and be able to see them easily without waiting for my mom to organize it because sometimes she doesn't have time to drive me. I want to be more independent. I want to eat dinner with my friends and hang out with them. I want to walk to all my places in Hudson because I don't drive. The library is my favorite place. I like to shop at Heinen's because it has stuff that is on my special diet. I like the music on the green in the summer and I like buying tomatoes, cucumbers, and apples at the farmer's market.

I like Hudson and I want to live in Hudson. I like Hudson Community Living. Please say Yes.

Thank you.

Sarah Faiman.

Dear Mr. Nick Sugar:

I reside at 7541 Woodspring LN, Hudson, OH 44236, and have been a resident of Hudson since 2006. My family and I love Hudson, and we feel very fortunate to be members of a caring community.

Hudson is filled with examples of community members donating their time, money, and leadership to create shared assets for the greater good. Example: Hudson Springs Park

I know the project to develop Hudson Community Living, an inclusive community for persons with developmental needs. This project will benefit the greater Hudson community for generations to come. I cannot help but be inspired and deeply touched by this initiative. What a gift to our community!

I respect the Hudson City Planning Commission taking the time to review all possible concerns with this project or any such project. No one has yet to learn what the future brings; however, any sustainable project such as Hudson Community Living must be based on a solid strategy, substantial funding, and a talented team personally invested in ensuring a quality outcome. The Hudson Community Living project has all three of these components.

I can attest to this initiative's thoughtful and talented leadership. Chris & Patty Gurreri, Jill Soltau, Lori Shockey, and Sherri Bevan Walsh are all outstanding community and business leaders. Their credentials are proven; for decades, each has demonstrated their service to others with grace, dignity, and genuine commitment. If ever there were a project such as the one proposed, I cannot think of others who would be more qualified to lead such an effort.

I support Hudson Community Living with 100% confidence and encourage the Hudson City Planning Commission Members to join me. The logic is sound, the need is real, and Hudson as a community will benefit. The leadership team of Hudson Community Living is gifting our community with, once again, another asset that will serve future generations.

If you have any questions or seek personal input, please contact me at 708-752-3587, and I will make myself available.

Thank you for taking the time to read this message, and please feel free to share this message with our greater Hudson Community.

Sincerely,

Frank P. Fulco

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Hello. My name is Beth Turkaly, and I am writing in support of Hudson Community Living. I am a parent of a young adult with autism. From my personal experience in raising a child with a disability, I've seen countless developmentally-typical "rights of passage" come and go without my child's participation or full participation. In my case, balancing hope for each next experience with healthy expectations was always challenging. Community support has been instrumental along the way, and is what sets Hudson apart from other cities. I can think of no greater "right of passage" than moving out of a parent's home and living independently from them. Hudson has been such a supportive community for young children with disabilities, it stands to reason that it should continue to show support for the very same children it helped to raise. Thank you for your consideration.

There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

Recently I have learned of the project Hudson Community Living. It was some of the best news that I have heard in a long time!

We have been members of the Hudson Community for 48 years and of course experienced much change during this time. Some good and some not so good. In addition to being a community member, I am the mother of two adults on the autism spectrum both of still living with me at age 40 and 45.

The reason they continue to live in my home is what Hudson Community Living will provide….a safe, support living establishment. One of my greatest fears is knowing that my children will out live me . If

Prior to this time there has not been program available in an area where I have been comfortable having them transition. A place where they work, have friends and are in a familiar setting with access to their doctors, dentist and other health care providers.

I fully support this endeavor in our community, I have reviewed some of objections and actually find that the location is ideal, a location close to both police, fire and EMS. As a retired nurse with in both pediatric and adult care a safety net within a community that adults with special needs is important.

Several years ago I had the pleasure of addressing the Hudson Board receiving a proclamation that Hudson is an autism friendly community. I hope that is still true!!

Respectfully,

Janet Rogers, MSN, RN (parent)

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

ATTN: Nick Sugar

Dear Hudson Planning Commission,

I am writing on behalf of my grandson who has Autism and wants to live in the housing being proposed by Hudson Community Living. I am a resident of Hudson and was so happy about the innovative plan that would allow my grandson to live in a safe community with his friends. And for him to be able to live independently and permanently in Hudson, where his parents, cousins, aunts, uncles and grandparents also live was so exciting. So imagine my distress when I heard that a group of Hudson residents hired an attorney to block this proposal! My first thought was, what kind of people would actually oppose such a development? My only answer is people who have no regard for those who are disadvantaged and care solely about themselves and their property value. Sadly, while they are concerned about their property value, I suspect that experts would say their property value would actually increase.

I watched most of the last hearing online and listened to the statements of the opponents. I found it interesting that every one of them made a point to say they support the plan but then criticized the plan. They may publicly say they support Hudson Community Living but saying this out loud does not make it true. There is actually a term for this group and it's called NIMBY, meaning, Not in my Backyard. It's also called discrimination. And ignorance.

I am a retired college professor who despite my age, can clearly see what this is really about. Please do not allow selfishness and ignorance to prevail. Vote yes to approve this plan.

Sincerely,

Carol J. Bevan

Please support Hudson Community Living! I live in Hudson and support this neighborhood. When I first heard about this, I thought it was such an innovative plan to include people who have special needs in our community and was happy to hear this was going to be built. I am so concerned that a group of residents would discriminate against these young adults and make excuses for why they shouldn't live in their neighborhood. Our City should do better than this. Why shouldn't these young adults be able to live in our town and in our neighborhoods? And why shouldn't they be allowed to live with their friends in a safe, small community within Hudson where there will be staff who live there also? From what I have heard, the opponents say they fully support this idea but they just want it built somewhere else. Should these individuals be forced to live in a remote area? Is that really a more acceptable place for them to live? I hope you will not allow a small minority of opponents to interfere with the development of this wonderful plan.

Very truly yours,

Nellian Lowery

Dear Hudson Planning Commission,

I am writing in support of Hudson Community Living and request that you vote to support the building of these homes. I was saddened to hear that a small group of residents are trying to stop these homes from being built which will support adults with disabilities. Blocking this project will only add to the criticism of Hudson as intolerant of diversity and will once again put us in a negative spotlight.

Residents are citing all kinds of reasons for not allowing the project, but in fact, they are clearly saying "not in my backyard". Interestingly, Hudson Community Living is not in their backyard. It might be nearby, but there is no direct access from their neighborhood. There is also going to be a 25 foot landscape buffer plus a 6 foot privacy fence. I actually find it sad that the parents supporting this proposal were asked to install a fence around the entire community. Nevertheless, they agreed to do it.

Please don't discriminate against these adults with developmental disabilities. I am requesting that you vote in support of allowing this to be built.

Sincerely,

Gretchen Lowery

Hudson Planning Commission:

I have recently heard about the community that is being built across the street from the Hudson Police Department. I also heard that some of the residents of Hudson are opposed to this and are complaining about things that haven't even happened. One of the complaints is an increase in traffic. I would agree that downtown Hudson has a lot of traffic at certain times of the day. As a resident of Hudson, I would think that everyone in our community should support this project EVEN IF there is a little bit more traffic. I would gladly spend 5 more minutes per day (or longer) waiting in traffic in order to allow individuals with disabilities to have the same opportunities for housing as everyone else has. I wonder, though, if the people who are complaining are actually concerned about traffic or if instead, they are discriminating against people who are different than them. I was told that most of the adults who would live there do not even drive. Please support this new development!!

Attn: Nick Sugar, City Planner

Dear Members of the Planning Commission:

I am a retired Attorney who lives in Hudson and has a grandson that we are hopeful will live in one of the homes proposed to be built by Hudson Community Living. I want to express my enthusiastic support FOR this project. Don't let this project be stopped. It's time to put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to our community and critically important to the young adults with developmental disabilities who will live there.

I am dismayed by the individuals who are opposing this project, individuals who express support for this housing as long as it is built elsewhere. I wish I had the opportunity to ask these opponents where they would propose the housing be placed although I would imagine that any remote location far away from their neighborhood would be desirable to these opponents. Their behavior is embarrassing to our community. To oppose a small community that can only house a little over 30 young adults with disabilities is shameful. They can argue their supposed concerns about flooding, too much traffic, too much density, etc but the reality is they are discriminating against a group of individuals who have a legal right to fair housing.

I am 87 years old and have seen a lot of discrimination in my life. For years, children and adults with disabilities were basically hid away in institutions. I have also seen much progress over the years and thought that Hudson was better than this. The Hudson Schools and all the special education teachers and aides who taught and helped my grandson from his first day of preschool until his high school graduation in 2018 were excellent. I am hopeful that the attitudes and selfishness of these opponents is not representative of our entire community.

I know many of the young adults who hope to live in this community. They have been my grandson's friends for most of his life. They are kind, caring, funny, genuine and so much more. It would be an honor to live right next door to these young adults.

Sincerely,

Keith D. Bevan

Dear Members of Planning Commission:

I am writing to support the plans being proposed by Hudson Community Living. I am a long time resident of Hudson and a retired City of Hudson teacher. I spent 30 years as a teacher in the Hudson schools and had the pleasure of working with many children with disabilities. I am also a grandmother of 3 grandkids who have developmental disabilities. I cannot imagine a more worthwhile project than the development of housing for these special young adults.

I am saddened to hear that a small group of residents are opposing this community and particularly disturbed that it is due to discrimination. I have heard their complaints about traffic, flooding, and even the concern that these kids cannot safely walk downtown. And some even publicly admitted that they love this proposal, but not in their back yard. "Not in my backyard", or NIMBY as it is called, is nothing more than discrimination. It's shameful and disheartening that individuals would not support something that would benefit individuals who are less fortunate.

Please don't allow a small, self-centered group of individuals to impact the future of our special residents. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Char Koberna

1275 Barlow Road, Hudson, Ohio

I have lived in Hudson over 49 years, and with my husband, raised three children here. When our family moved to Hudson, our oldest child was 7 years old and had a Developmental Disability. We were parents who were always preparing for what would be needed in the future, but at that time, resources and options were limited.

In 1989 we, along with two other families, bought a house in a residential Stow neighborhood for our daughters to reside together. Eventually a lawsuit was enacted against the City of Stow because, in their eyes, the home wasn't considered a family home. The case finally made it to the Ohio Supreme Court in 1992, and it was resolved in our favor under the Fair Housing Amendments Act.

It is a very real concern for such families to wonder what will happen to their children after the parents are no longer able to care for them. I have seen firsthand the benefits of independent family-style living on my daughter's well-being and am grateful for the stable and persistent care she receives – and will continue to receive even after I'm gone.

In my view the current proposed apartment residence in Hudson is a needed and appropriate endeavor.

And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. Dear Members of the Hudson Planning Commission,

We are writing to express our support for Hudson Community Living. As 10+ year residents of Hudson, with four children graduating from Hudson High School, we would be proud to live in a community that is leading the way in providing supportive living for adult children with developmental disabilities.

As we have reflected on this, we are reminded of the landmarks in Hudson that 'showcase' why we all love to call Hudson our home. When friends and family come to visit, we show them our 'cool' downtown, with great restaurants and shops. We walk through Heinen's (rarely not buying something!) and our impressive library. We walk to the green and the clocktower. We now show them our brand new middle school, highlighting the world class education our kids receive in our school system. We tell them that people whose children have special needs move to Hudson because of the superior reputation of the special needs education our school system provides. In the future, we are looking forward to including a 'drive-by' of Hudson Community Living, bragging about how our inclusive community identified a real need for supportive housing for adult children with special needs as a natural continuation of our superior school programming. Honestly...I think this might be the highlight of our tour.

Many great locales in Ohio have great schools, downtown shopping and even a clocktower. But few will have a beautifully designed and built, well-structured 'mini-campus' for adult children needing a little extra help.

Please vote to approve Hudson Community Living.

Thanks you for your consideration,

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I'm writing to express my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living (HCL). I am intimately involved with the details having listened to and/or attended the three planning commission meetings and attended the HCL neighborhood meeting. I serve on the board of HCL and am a parent of a young woman with developmental disabilities who is a HHS graduate, a valued member of the Hudson community, and a good friend to those who know her.

In listening to the comments expressed during the public forums, there are several I would like to address and I thank you for your valuable time in reading this letter.

Those opposed have questioned our ability to run the "business" of HCL. I assure you that business prowess runs deep in our board and the expanded community of families that are working diligently on this project, from entrepreneurs to those who have led and operated national businesses to international leaders. I am both a Fortune 500 retired CEO and current corporate board member. I have led two multi-billion dollar companies, including JOANN Stores, headquartered in Hudson, OH, and was the president of a third. With 35+ years of business experience running complex retail organizations made up of tens of thousands of employees and hundreds of millions of customers, two things are true in business, attention to detail and the people you surround yourself with. I assure you that we are well equipped to successfully govern Hudson Community Living.

Secondly, the opposition has asked several questions pertaining to the Fair Housing Act. Yet, the veiled inquiries are actually what the Fair Housing Act protects individuals from, which is discrimination, intolerance and stereotypical fear. We, as parents, have experienced this positioning for the entire lives of our children so we are adept at identifying it.

Next, our lack of professional experience and expertise in Developmental Disabilities has been raised. In addition to the 1000+ collective years of experience our expanded community has as parents of children with DDs working with counties, states, social workers, administrators, schools, educators, therapists, doctors, specialists, clinics, hospitals and organizations that support individuals with DD, we are very connected to the professionals. Early in the planning process HCL met with the Summit County Board of DD Superintendent, Lisa Kamlowsky, and her staff, to present our plans for our community. They are enthusiastic about and supportive of our project and have committed to work with us on an ongoing basis to ensure that our community will be an appropriate option for adults with DD. We also met with Gary Tonks, President & CEO of The Arc of Ohio, as well as his Vice President, David Lewis, to seek advice and secure a planning partnership as we proceed. These two premier Ohio organizations are charged with administering benefits as well as protecting the rights of the DD population.

Finally, as one would expect, the vast majority of support letters FOR HCL hail from Hudson, yet, it's noteworthy that HCL has touched many beyond the City of Hudson, demonstrated by the support from non-Hudson residents. Hudson connections reach far and wide for many reasons including the Hudson Schools educating the younger generations to go out and do great things. Additionally, former Hudson Mayor Bill Currin once wrote of Hudson being an international city with its sister city in Germany and as the home to WRA. Hudson residents have rich backgrounds, choosing to live in Hudson due to the excellence and innovation expected in this city. HCL is an example of that innovation, it is forward-thinking and will become a national model for inclusion, shining a positive spotlight on Hudson and its residents. Inclusion is a global concern, yet it needs to begin at the local level, here in Hudson.

Thank you for your time, consideration and support FOR HCL.

Respectfully yours,

Jill Soltau

Dear Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I am expressing my support for Hudson Community Living (HCL) and kindly request that you approve this development at the Planning Commission Meeting on December 12.

I am a 2019 graduate of Hudson High School and I volunteer at Simplay3, Gemco, Universal Screen Arts, all in Hudson, and the Akron Canton Regional Food Bank in Akron. I am a guest speaker on Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC) at East Woods Intermediate School. I love to work and enjoy being a productive and contributing member of my community. I have a lot of friends and a very active social life, due in large part to many kind, giving and supportive people who live in Hudson. I am involved in Special Olympics, book club, music and theatre programs, and church clubs. My friends and I gather at our homes often as we have a lot in common and like to hang out. I enjoy eating out and shopping in Hudson and I take advantage of the many events offered on The Green. I bet this sounds similar to what you like to do.

I plan to live at Hudson Community Living in a year or two. It will be a new experience and I know I will have the love and support of my family and friends to help me, just as they have through every new experience in my life. My roommate and I are already practicing living together. We enjoy many of the same things, we are very neat, organized and we like a quiet home. I am looking forward to living near my friends in my own place, just as I have watched my older sister and many of my high school friends do.

I attended the HCL Neighborhood Meeting and found it to be very informative and exciting. Yet, there were some people there who were critical of the project. They were also critical of the future residents (me), the caregivers that will help us and the families creating HCL. I don't know these people but I bet if they got to know me, they would like and understand me and become a supporter.

Thank you for reading my letter. Please approve Hudson Community Living on Dec. 12.

Sincerely,

Nelia Cullen

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Subject: Hudson Community Living Neighborhood

Dear Ms. Jones,

I am writing regarding the Hudson Community Living neighborhood proposed for Hudson. I would like to highly encourage you to approve this development so it can move forward. As a parent of a young adult with developmental disabilities, I would like to stress to you what a miracle this opportunity is for Hudson residents like my son. Quality independent living opportunities like this neighborhood are very hard to come by for these adults who are capable of living on their own with some support.
Most of the parents that you are hearing from live in Hudson, are involved in Hudson, and care about the future of the city. Many of the people who will be living in these homes are already part of this community. To paraphrase George Bailey in “It’s a Wonderful Life”, these residents, like you, do the working, paying, living and dying in this community. Is it too much to ask that they do that in a couple of decent rooms and a bath of their own? These are folks who need to be near their family and friends in the city they know and love.
It seems that the originators, designers and planners of the neighborhood have completed all the tasks and made all the changes required of them to make it compliant. This is a beautiful little neighborhood that this city can certainly be proud of.

Thank you,

Liddy Nicol

My step daughter lived in a group home in Hudson for about 7 years at 236 Main Street. There were 4 families …three living in Hudson and us (my husband is a 1982 graduate of WWR) …with daughters of various abilities. 2 of the girls needed live in help 24/7…ours did not. The home was purchased and renovated to accommodate various need's and maintained by Summit Housing and was beautiful inside and out…always!! Staffing of various agencies is difficult and probably more so now. The staff may have not been perfect but they never ever posed any threat or detriment to the community. They kept our girls cared for and the home spotless. From the outside it never looked like anything but a nicely maintained home. The inside was lovingly decorated and furnished by the families. The staff were professional when on outings with our girls within the community of Hudson. I believe that is what the few people may object to in Hudson…the quality and character of the staff needed to support the residents. I can assure you the staff was never a problem! They were vetted by the agencies running the group home. We moved my step daughter out due to her outgrowing the roommate situation and wanting something more private. We have had her in an apartment with another woman, then in a shared living arrangement and now we have her back at home. Our daughter was looking forward to moving into a community in Stow called Pathways to Indepdence which consisted of single units for high functioning adults with disabilities within an assisted living nursing home. It would have given her the privacy and independence she craves within the helpful and nurturing environment she needs to function. Most of all it would have given her a real community of friends to hang out with instead of the artificial outings and get togethers she relies on now. Relying on rides to get to and from events is not always convenient for everyone…group homes sometimes don't have a car. Unfortunately, that living situation had to close due to the nursing home going broke. We have been through ALL the options for our daughter to live in. I have done lots of homework on what is out there and this type of family/community based living is the future! We hope that Hudson Community Living takes off and we can become a part of it ,too. It is truly what is lacking in the area of housing and community for those adults with disabilities.

Thanks
Laura King

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

Please vote YES on the Hudson Community Living neighborhood!

I am a Hudson resident and the parent to an extraordinary adult child with a developmental disability. I feel that the HCL concept will allow my daughter, Sarah, to flourish and live the life that she would like to live should she be lucky enough to call Hudson Community Living home.

Imagine a 22-year-old young adult having to live with her parents due to the lack of options available in the community where she attended school and grew up in. A community she knows and loves and a community that knows and loves her.

“Can I have a friend come over?” is something I hear Every-Single-Day. Or “Can I live at college? [as her brother did]”. Or “Can I go to the library?” Sarah is lonely despite her robust schedule of a daily day program and scheduled activities. She simply wants to be more independent and hang out with her friends on her terms as many 22-year-old young adults wish to do.

So, what IS the option beyond living with her parents? A group home? Sure, she can live in a group home purchased and set up in ANY neighborhood in Hudson, but would she, her housemates, and caregivers be accepted? Would they be invited to neighborhood holiday parties, book clubs, and bunco groups? OR would they be an unwelcomed “island” in an otherwise active and social neighborhood? On the flip side, would she and her housemates want to attend a typical neighborhood adult function? Absolutely … if those groups were playing Candy Land on game night and reading at a second-grade level in their adult book club. Of course, this is an unlikely scenario, but it highlights a disconnect with the buzzword “community inclusion” and what is actually out there. For some this concept works out well in a welcoming neighborhood with kind neighbors, but for others there needs to be another option.

Hudson Community Living will fill a much-needed gap and address the needs of this unique group of individuals with a model that is popping up all over the country. It will have an ideal location within walking distance to downtown Hudson and all the amenities that our adult children currently enjoy. This in turn will promote exercise, socialization, independence, connection to the downtown community, and countless other benefits. HCL has worked hard with Hudson City staff and the Hudson Planning Commission over the last few months and has made many changes to the plans at their request while keeping the focus on the most important part of this project, their future residents.

I urge the Hudson City Planning Commission and our Hudson neighbors to be on the forefront of this concept and to support its neediest citizens. Please learn about our families, be a part of the solution, and the greater good.

I have no doubt that Hudson will be proud to have this neighborhood within its borders and be able to add this to the long list of what makes Hudson a great place to live, work and raise a family. "The Hudson Bubble" has always taken care of its citizens to help them thrive through problem solving, innovation and creativity.

Let's do it. Vote YES.

Thank you!

To all the above people,
I am writing in support of the Hudson Community Living Project. What a wonderful opportunity for those who qualify with developmental disabilities to have a place to continue to learn to live in a positive atmosphere.
I've always complimented Acme for hiring people with disabilities and it is time for our community to support them as well.
Bravo to the group who intramented this project.
Let's show everyone how we care for all in our community.

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Mr. Nick Sugar,

I am writing in support of the Hudson Community Living facility to be built in Hudson. Chris Gurreri is one of the finest men I've known for over 14 years who is very philanthropic and always looking for ways to make life better for people. I have served with him on a mission trip in Haiti rebuilding a fence around a school and seen him provide financial resources as well as rolling up his sleeves to accomplish the task.

He cares for those who face challenges to live a productive life that are often overlooked. Chris sees people as individuals with a God-given purpose that are valuable and need opportunities to become successful contributing to their community. I believe the community of Hudson would serve their fellow neighbors well, whose families have special needs children with a safe environment called Home.

Sincerely,
Leigh J. Atkins

Dear All:
I have known Jill and Keith Sullen and their family for 20 + years and I fully support this endeavor of the Hudson Community Living Center of which they are among a group of supporters. A concept that in my estimation is wonderful and so needed for adults with speicial needs. I shared with the Cullen's my own support of our grandson who suffered with Autism from birth. He very well could have been a young man in need of a Hudson Community Living Center.
I fully support the proposal for this development.
Kindest Regards,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Hudson city planning commission,

Per this email, I would like to tell the commission that I support the Hudson Community Living (HCL) and it is my hope and expectation that your commission will too.
This project is innovative and admirable and it will bring pride to all the Hudson residents.
As a parent myself, I know it takes a village to raise children and it is a lifelong commitment to support them throughout their lives challenges. These adult children with disabilities are our children and deserve inclusion and support, always.
Best regards,

Elisa Loring, 7674 Bergen court

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission:

My name is Coleen Pollock and I have a 22 year old daughter, Meeghan, who has cerebral palsy. Meeghan has grown up in Hudson, Ohio and has benefitted from its excellent school system and special needs program. The main reason we moved to Hudson was for its incredible special needs program, however, the longer we have lived here, we quickly realized how inclusive the people and community of Hudson are, as a whole. Meeghan had wonderful peer models in the school system and she was fortunate to be a part of programs like Sparkle Cheerleading and Our Time to Shine. But what is even more impressive is seeing how the community embraces young adults with special needs through church programs, employment and adult day programs. This is why Hudson Community Living is a perfect fit for a town like Hudson, that embraces and supports its residents with disabilities.

The majority of the young adults, who would be living at Hudson Community Living, have known each other since elementary school. They have developed strong friendships and made many memories together throughout the years. Once they had to leave the high school, the activities and events they looked forward to each year, came to an end and they were not able to see their friends and peers often. For many, there was no next phase of life to be excited about or opportunity to live on their own. This situation is not only difficult on the young adults, but also the families, who are trying to find a place for their children to thrive, feel independent and be with friends. As a result, I would respectfully ask the members of Hudson City Planning Commission to vote yes in support of Hudson Community Living, so young adults like my daughter, Meeghan, have a place to call home.

Sincerely,

Coleen Pollock

I am writing to support the Hudson Community Living project. This project looks to be a beautiful and innovative solution to further enhancing the lives of some adults with developmental disabilities and the lives of those fortunate enough to share a community with them.

I would like to share a historical perspective as a nearly lifelong friend of Jill and Keith, the parents of Nelia Cullen. A small group of us friends were all starting our families during the same years and on occasion got together despite our distances to share good times and parenting stories. In our group, Nelia was the last to be born. I remember clearly having a conversation with Keith not long after they learned that their still developing in the womb child was going to present different challenges. Keith was very candid and very paternal regarding this daughter he had not even met yet. He shared that they had already had numerous meetings with doctors, experts, and consultants. The two things I remember most was when he said how relieved they were that they learned so early that they could actually start improving her potential before she was born. The second thing was an explanation of how far medicine and technology had advanced (this was 20+ years ago) and that he was already learning and training on the stretching and exercises that could help improve her growth and development...he went on to give me a short course in the genetic differences and how his daughter's body and growth would be different.

Yes, I was utterly impressed by the parenting instincts he and Jill displayed, but even more impressed by their commitment to making a difference. His conclusion that things don't have to be done the way they have always been done, that contemporary approaches yield better and more contemporary results really stuck with me. I remembered it again recently when Jill shared this project with us. The HCL project is another extension of that successful approach of applying modern knowledge and studies to create even better life experiences for those living with disabilities.

I encourage the Hudson City Planning Commission to vote to support the Hudson Community Living project not only for the adults that will flourish and benefit from this opportunity, but the broader community at large that will benefit more greatly for having the HCL.

Best Wishes during this holiday season,

Mike and Renee Favo
Jacksonville, FL

Hello!
I am writing to ask a simple, one minute favor on behalf of Nelia and her friends. Keith and I, along with 20 other families, have been working diligently on privately funding a neighborhood project for our adult children with developmental disabilities. If you know us and Nelia, you have a connection to this effort. Would you be willing to safely, securely and easily click the link below and voice your support for Nelia, inclusion and the Hudson Community Living project? We have received incredible support from all who know about this effort, yet we want to show that support to the Hudson Planning Commission ahead of their vote on Monday, December 12. By clicking the link and entering your name and address, a pre-populated letter will be sent to the Hudson Planning Commission, Mr. Nick Sugar, City Planner and Chris Gurreri, Founder HCL.

Details and key facts of the project are below and it may look like alot to read through, yet we just want to give our supporters confidence in what we are doing.

If you'd rather write a personal email, the nine email addresses to send it to are included below. It can be a personal reflection or as simple as "I support Hudson Community Living and respectfully ask the Hudson Planning Commission to vote FOR this wonderful development." Be sure to sign your name and address.

We have been to the Planning Commission three times and have diligently responded to the City Planner's requests. He has been wonderful to work with and as stated below, we have received incredible support. We need to show that support to get the final favorable vote on Dec. 12.

Thank you for your consideration! This is so important for Nelia, and her friends, to be able to continue living and thriving in Hudson. If I can answer any questions for you, please don't hesitate to call or email.

Sincerely,
Jill Soltau Cullen

Dear Friend and Neighbor,
Please join us in supporting Hudson Community Living!
Hudson Community Living (HCL) is an innovative, forward-thinking, accessible neighborhood for adults with developmental disabilities to be located adjacent to Barlow Community Center. This "community within a community" was conceptualized by a small group of Hudson, OH parents who want independence for our children in a safe and secure environment. It will be a place where these adult children with special needs can live fully, joyfully and independently in a supportive living environment surrounded by family, friends, and neighbors, within the community where they grew up.
We ask you to join us in writing an email to express your support FOR Hudson Community Living (HCL) and sending it to the members of the Hudson City Planning Commission, prior to their Dec. 12 meeting where they will vote.
Email addresses for each of the members of the Planning Commission, Mr. Nick Sugar, City Planner, and Chris Gurreri, Founder HCL, are below.

Continue reading for HCL Key Facts should they assist you in writing your email FOR HCL:

- HCL features seven cottage style multi-unit residences, a gazebo, walking paths, and an elegant clubhouse beautifully designed to look like a traditional Hudson family home
- This supportive living environment will become home to up to 33 adult children with developmental disabilities

- HCL is so unique, we expect it to become a national model for inclusion of persons with developmental disabilities, shining a positive spotlight on Hudson and its residents
- Hudson City Council recently approved new zoning for the community
- HCL has worked continuously with Hudson City Staff and the Hudson Planning Commission on density and has had two traffic studies completed. This community will be less dense than surrounding Hudson neighborhoods
- The founding parent group has privately raised $5 million for the project and have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times
- There is absolutely no direct access to this community from surrounding neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence

If you would like additional Hudson Community Living background, please continue reading:
You can find renderings and FAQs about the community on our website at hudsoncommunityliving.com.
At every turn, we have received absolutely incredible support from residents, neighbors and friends. Unfortunately, and very recently, a small number of Hudson residents, primarily residing on Fox Trace, have come out in opposition. This group says they are supportive, but their sentiment is quickly followed with "not in my backyard." It's important to note that HCL is "not in their backyards." While it is nearby, there is absolutely no access between our community and theirs. Also, there is a 25-foot landscape barrier and a 6-foot privacy fence. Recently, they hired attorneys to stop the project from moving forward.
Here are the arguments those opposed regularly present – and the answers that prove these arguments wrong:

- The development will be in violation of the Fair Housing Act because it won't take abled people.

Besides being a ridiculous supposition, it's completely false because the new zoning requires the supportive living environment be limited to those with disabilities.

- The development doesn't have a state license to operate.

Residences designed as supportive living environments do not need to be licensed – the providers who care for and support residents do (and will be). The requirement is for caregivers to be licensed, not the supportive living environments. In fact, North Coast Community Homes, the largest provider of such housing in Northeastern Ohio with 248 residences, doesn't have a single "licensed" residence. This is in accordance with guidance provided by every Ohio county board of developmental disabilities.

- The small .2 acres of wetlands that will be remediated so the project can move forward will cause flooding.

Again, no. The Army Corp of Engineers clearly stated that remediation of these areas will have no adverse effects.

We know this small group does not come close to representing the majority of residents. To that end, we are respectfully asking you to join us in writing an email expressing your support FOR HCL and sending it to the members of the Hudson City Planning Commission, prior to their Dec. 12 meeting where they will vote. In doing so, you will be helping to give a voice to those who do not have one, and you will be supporting the parents who have worked tirelessly to plan and privately fund the project and, more importantly, our adult children.

Please include your name and address at the bottom of the letter – and please ask all members of your household to participate individually. Also, we kindly request that you share this with your friends and neighbors. Quantity matters as was noted in the last Planning Commission Meeting.

On behalf of our adult children and future residents of Hudson Community Living, we sincerely thank you for your time, effort and support.

Respectfully yours,

Chris & Patty Gurreri, Jill Soltau, Lori Shockey and Sherri Bevan Walsh

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Anne Christiansen Merchant

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas Hansen

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Good Morning:

I am sending this email in support of the Hudson Community Living facility adjacent to the Barlow Community Center. This is a wonderful idea for adult special needs children to live fully, joyfully, and independently in a supportive living environment surrounded by their family and community.

I am urging you to vote in support of Hudson Community Living Facility on December 12th.

We need to be a forward-thinking community!

This email is to ask you to vote for Hudson Community Living. I am in favor of HCL and inclusiveness. I am in favor of change and progressive/forward thinking ideas. I am in favor of compassion and leading by example. I am in favor of finding solutions to situations that arise. Mostly though, it is exciting to think that Hudson can be a model for our community, state, nation, and world. I want to be a part of THAT Hudson, one that I can be proud to call home.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Members of the Hudson Planning Commission & Mr. Nate Sugar:

I am supporting a 'YES' vote for Hudson Community Living. This community is an amazing opportunity for our son, Nathan. Nate is developmentally disabled and Hudson has been his home for over 20 years. He graduated from the Hudson City Schools and continues to be an active part of the Hudson community.

The HCL plan will provide a safe environment for adults with developmental disabilities in a wonderful location in Hudson. Close to historic downtown and the emergency services headquarters. In addition, the HCL staff will provide an extra layer of support that is not present in the alternative group home arrangement.

This community is the wave of the future for the developmentally disabled population. There are several similar communities around the country and so many more in the works and coming soon. Please allow HCL to move forward - give us the chance to create an amazing future for our children. They deserve a future that is as bright as any other young adults hoping to continue to live in their community.

The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I am writing to express my strong support for Hudson Community Living.

As a member of the board of directors of a nonprofit organization seeking to accomplish goals similar to that of Hudson Community Living, I am well aware of the plight of families struggling to establish a fulfilling future for their special needs adult children. Our organization commissioned a study to explore the feasibility of creating a safe living environment for our young adults with disabilities and individuals without disabilities, thereby fostering a community atmosphere. A key finding was that: "A huge gap exists between supply and demand for disabled housing, and demand is winning. Every organization we investigated is operating at capacity and has a long waiting list." Unfortunately, given this situation, some special needs adults end up in nursing homes or become wards of the state when family members pass. The reality being that it falls upon the families of special needs adults to seek creative solutions.

One such creative solution is Hudson Community Living. Given their goal to build and operate the community using only private funding, they have minimized the potential financial burden to city residents and instead, will become contributing members to the City of Hudson. This is a unique opportunity for the City of Hudson to demonstrate leadership in support of independent housing for the special needs community.

I am writing to express my strong support for Hudson Community Living.

Reflecting on the journey of our 31-year-old special needs nephew, I am all too familiar with the challenges encountered by the families of special needs adults to seek creative solutions to their long-term living situation. Knowing that their adult child has a community to support them when their parents are gone, is a level of comfort many of us take for granted.

Supporting the independence of the special needs community should be a priority for our city. Hudson Community Living will be an asset to the city, and this is a unique opportunity for the City of Hudson to demonstrate leadership in support of independent housing for the special needs community.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

Mr. Sugar and the Hudson Planning Commission-

I support the Hudson Community Living project.
It will be a positive addition to the lives of our special needs young adults as they move into the next step of their lives.
As a member of the community with a special needs son, I have seen how my son's living in a group situation has benefited him and his maturing.
Thank you.

Hudson Planning Commission,

We are writing to express our support for Hudson Community Living, a community for adults with developmental disabilities. These adults deserve a safe and secure environment where they can live independently in the beautiful city of Hudson, right where they have grown up.

Please give these folks a chance to live independently right here in Hudson, a place they know and love, just like the rest of us!

Sincerely,
Amy & Lino Sergo

They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Ms. Jones,

This email is to ask you to vote for Hudson Community Living. I am in favor of HCL and inclusiveness. I am in favor of change and progressive/forward thinking ideas. I am in favor of compassion and leading by example. I am in favor of finding solutions to situations that arise. Mostly though, it is exciting to think that Hudson can be a model for our community, state, nation, and world. I want to be a part of THAT Hudson, one that I can be proud to call home.

Sincerely,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Mr. Sugar,

This email is to ask you to vote for Hudson Community Living. I am in favor of HCL and inclusiveness. I am in favor of change and progressive/forward thinking ideas. I am in favor of compassion and leading by example. I am in favor of finding solutions to situations that arise. Mostly though, it is exciting to think that Hudson can be a model for our community, state, nation, and world. I want to be a part of THAT Hudson, one that I can be proud to call home.

Sincerely,

Hudson Planning Commission

I am writing in support of Hudson Community Living. My family has lived as next-door neighbors to a family with an adult son who has special needs for over ten years. It has been a privilege to have my own two sons grow up with an appreciation for someone who is different than they are. My boys are more respectful, kind and understanding as a direct result of our neighbors. We live with no fence or any barrier between our homes. I say this to provide insight into our personal firsthand experience to juxtapose it against any who may have concerns.

Additionally, I will state that our property value has only appreciated.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Ameera Salman

Good morning,

I am writing to express my support for Hudson Community Living. I am proud to live in such an amazing community where this type of project is being considered. I am absolutely devastated to hear that anyone would try to block an initiative that would have such meaningful and life-changing impacts on some of our community members with the greatest need. This project would give those with developmental disabilities an opportunity to live a life of independence and dignity, which is what we all want for our children. I am grateful for my two healthy children, and I am thrilled to offer my support to those who want to see their children with special needs have a chance at the same opportunities that mine have. To those that would oppose this, I ask you to consider the life that you hope for your own children. I have always been a proud citizen of Hudson and this project exemplifies everything that is great about our city. We love and support all of our community members, especially those who are the most vulnerable. This project epitomizes everything good about the city we are all proud and fortunate enough to call home.

Thank you for your time,

Tess and Daniel Kirtz

Planning Commission,

My wife, Connie and I have been talking about the plans for the upcoming Hudson Community Living plan. I think she wrote to you earlier. I just want to throw my two cents in.
What a great addition this could be for Hudson!
I am 100% behind the efforts being made to make a safe environment for these young adults.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. Dear City Planning Commission and Friends, Very soon you will have the opportunity to meaningfully improve our great city by voting for the plans for Hudson Community Living. The very children who have grown up in Hudson would have a place to continue their relationships and interactions in their hometown with a thoughtfully designed community that fosters their independence in a literally ground-breaking supportive environment.

I have had the joy of teaching these students in Hudson elementary schools and building friendships with these young adults and their families that continue to this day.
My husband, Mike, continues to serve as President of Hudson Hawks and believes his best day in that capacity is at their annual Hudson Special Olympics Challenger game running up and down the field with these athletes. We have lived in Hudson for decades and so have many of these families. This is not some hastily thrown together plan by a developer who arrives at our city without a clue of Hudson's heart and character.

We can't think of another initiative that will benefit so many. Please vote yes on Hudson Community Living.

Thank you for your thoughtful consideration and the important work you do.

Sincerely,
Mike & Brenda DeLeo

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Erika Hayslip

Dear Members of Hudson Planning Commission & Mr. Nate Sugar:

I am writing to ask that you vote 'yes' for Hudson Community Living. This community is an amazing opportunity for our son, Nathan. Nate is developmentally disabled and Hudson has been his home for more than 20 years. He went through the Hudson City Schools & continues to be an active part of the Hudson community.

It has been really disheartening to hear some of the push back against HCL. I'm amazed by those that think we don't have enough 'professionals' working on this new neighborhood. Together we have HUNDREDS of years combined experience caring for individuals with developmental disabilities. We've been advocating for our children since they were babies - and MUCH has changed. 27 years ago a Hudson daycare told me they couldn't care for my son - in response to me asking for a menu so I could calculate it for his special nutritional requirements. He wasn't even a toddler yet and required nothing else out of the ordinary - can you imagine that happening now?

We've advocated for our children to be educated alongside yours; we've advocated for our children to be involved with sports, choir, theater, dances, field trips, scouting and all of the other activities that typically developing children enjoy easily. And Hudson has stepped up. The difference in opportunities between when my son started school and today is amazing. Hudson has been on the cutting edge when it comes to welcoming and including residents with special needs.

The few professionals opposed to our community may know their 'slice' of the DD picture - but no one knows it more fully or more deeply than we, their parents do. We live it all day every day and have for years. We understand our children's rights and continue to fight for them, as we are doing now.

Please also remember these are our babies. We have been protecting them while encouraging their education and continued growth all their lives. Please don't lecture me about the dangers of them walking downtown. We have been turning them over to bus aides, teachers, coaches, camp counselors & caregivers for years - we take their safety seriously and will continue to plan and make decisions with their safety front of mind. And I'd point out that if walking across Rt. 303 is so dangerous for everyone, that is a separate issue that needs to be addressed and does not have bearing on our community.

This community is the wave of the future for the DD population. There are many similar communities around the country and so many more in the works. Please allow HCL to move forward - give us the chance to create an amazing future for our children. They deserve a future that is as bright as any other young adults that want to continue to live in their home town.

Sincerely,
Lori Shockey

Dear Members of the Planning Commission & Mr. Nate Sugar:

My name is Nate Shockey & I am 27 years old. I have lived in Hudson for over 20 years. I am asking you to vote 'yes' for Hudson Community Living.

You might recognize me if you see me out around town. I probably was in school with some of your children. I attend church, go to sporting events, shop, eat at restaurants and visit the parks and events in Hudson. I also attend a day program in Hudson.

I am very excited about continuing to live in Hudson in a neighborhood with many of my peers. I love to visit with my friends. That is difficult for me now because I do not drive. I need to wait for my parents or a caregiver to arrange social opportunities. I look forward to living near my friends where we can walk outside and visit with each other. I look forward to watching sports with my friends (I love the Cavs, Browns, Guardians and Ohio State!) I look forward to spending time celebrating birthdays, doing activities and just hanging out. I am very excited about the opportunity to continue to live in the community where I grew up. Thank you,
Nate Shockey

What a great cause this is! I have to say that I am 100% behind this project.
I also understand the concept of "this is a great idea - but not in my backyard" sentiment, but think about it...
This is an open area - well buffered by a large green area and a 6 ft fence, it is designed for only 32 residents.
These special needs adults are NOT drug addicts or juvenile delinquents.
They are happy, loving people who deserve the right to a bit of independence.
I know the parents of some of these very special people and they will continue to be very involved in their lives.
Please do what you can to make this happen.
Thank you.

The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

As a 25 year resident of Hudson, I would like to voice my support of the proposed Hudson Community Living project. While I love my community, the lack of diversity within Hudson cannot be ignored. As a matter of fact, I have no doubt that this has contributed to numerous events that have occurred in Hudson within the last 5 years, including, racial incidents at the high school, a Memorial Day speech muted when referencing how freed Black slaves contributed to the origins of the holiday, numerous reports of children with disabilities being bullied, and now opposition to a project that would allow adult children with disabilities to live in a "community within a community" in a safe, supportive environment.

This community would enrich Hudson in so many ways. Children/adults could not only volunteer their time to help their "new" neighbors but also learn the value of tolerance and inclusion. The time is now to change the dialog on Hudson and rewrite the script as our city being a community that welcomes all.

The arguments made against this community are ridiculous. It is clear that every consideration to the legal and environmental aspects of this project has been carefully considered and thoroughly vetted,

I live less than one mile from this proposed community and look forward to watching it move forward. The future residents of HCL deserve to live their lives surrounded by those they love in a city they have called home their entire lives.

I support this project. I hope you will as well. Please give these exceptional adults the future they deserve and the ability to truly thrive.

Very truly yours,

Dana Miller

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

Hudson City Planning Commission Members:

Please take into consideration the value of developing a neighborhood for adults with developmental disabilities in Hudson. As a 25-year resident of Hudson, I see considerable value in enabling a group of our residents with special needs to have a place to call home in a supportive adult-living environment.

The proposed cottage style multi-unit cottages can be a model for other communities considering this type of support for persons with developmental disabilities. And, the proposed location is ideal for showcasing integration into a neighborhood rather than isolating the residents from our downtown environment.

I very much appreciate this opportunity to share my support for taking the "right" action for these special residents of Hudson.

Respectfully,

Georgene Berman

Dear Hudson City Planning Commission:
I would like to express my SUPPORT for the Conditional Use and Site Plan request for Hudson Community Living. Families like ours often serve as the primary caregivers and guardians to persons with developmental disabilities. In time, as Summit County DD Board eligible individuals grow into adulthood, their parents grow old and die. So eventually, their homes are no longer an appropriate place to live.
Hudson Community Living provides an attractive housing option for individuals and their families to consider when planning for that eventual housing transition.
Please approve the Conditional Use and Site Plan request for Hudson Community Living. It serves a salient community need.
Respectfully,
Steve Korane

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

I am a Hudson resident and am writing to let you know I fully support Mr. Guerri's project. I know him personally and he is a very sincere and reputable man. This project has been in the works for a long time and it is a much needed project for our entire Summit County area.

On the other hand I am very displeased with your approval of the villas in Laurel Lake.
We need the land and nature and trees not more villas.

Sincerely,
Lani Tower

Amanda,
When I originally extended with Alicia she asked if the 6 months would be enough with the impression I could have extended further. I never anticipated the delays pushing me into winter. I don't want to do a chimney in cold weather using calcium in the mortar and having to deal with the white joint bleed from it. Also having a problem lining up contractors still catching up from the Covid mess. My Summit County permit is through next April.

Appreciate anything you can do.

Thanks,
Dave

Good Afternoon Dave,

I believe we can only do one 6-month extension on Zoning Certificates. Let me confirm that and see what we can do for you to extend.

How much more time do you need?

Good afternoon,

It is our understanding that your commission will soon consider the Hudson Community Living (HCL) facility for adults with developmental disabilities near the Barlow Community Center. We heartily support such a community.

Hudson is known for its wonderful community offerings, especially its schools which excel in helping children with special needs reach their full potential. But what comes next? The HCL facility offers a practical and hopeful next step and will only better Hudson's already good reputation.

We understand that this facility is being proposed for young Hudson area residents. These young people are our own. Their living amongst us is nothing new. They attended our area schools in the past. Now they participate in our community events, eat in our restaurants, shop in our stores, and work in this area. These young people have endured much and, to their credit, are now able to take the next step towards supervised independence. The fact that some people fear what they do not know is no reason to deny these young adults a place to live in their own home town.

We have had the privilege of knowing some of these young people. They enrich the lives of all around them and are a delight. Yes, they need some help, but it is our understanding that they will have licensed professionals to guide them, as well as support from their local families. Those proposing this facility have done their homework. It is properly zoned for this type of facility. The Army Corp of Engineers assures us that the facility will not create flooding, and two traffic studies found that it will not cause unusual traffic for a Hudson neighborhood.

Finally, the proposed location is already an area designated FOR community facilities, such as our Police Station, our Fire Department, and the Barlow Community Center. All of these other facilities have been great assets to our town, and the HCL center will also be something in which Hudson will take great pride.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

I am writing to support the proposed HCL development. As a 20+ year resident (both in and out of the Village) I have always felt Hudson represented a town where everyone was welcomed and included. I've always been proud of the community and it pains me to hear opposition to this development. The mentality of "not in my backyard" is both embarrassing and disgusting. This type of thinking is not what Hudson is about….and this development IS what Hudson is about….a community where people are proud of their neighbors and welcome everyone.

As a founding Board member of The Taste of Hudson I always heard from out of town visitors what a beautiful community we have. Let's keep being the community we can be proud of and that visitors admire.

Thanks for your time and consideration.

Hudson Community Living!

When I heard about the Hudson Community Living, I was excited because I saw a wonderful environment where persons with developmental needs can thrive. My friend has a son who is planning to live at this facility. I am appalled now to hear there are people in the community (not even near the development) opposed to this plan. They support the plan - just not by me!

It takes a special person to raise a special child. These parents have struggled a great deal in their lives, not just with their child's needs and their own mental well-being, but with our society accepting their child. A friend of mine was stopped while walking with her autistic son and told he shouldn't be in public – he should be home. The people opposing this plan are those people – haters of anyone they deem different than them.

As parents of a child with disabilities age, plans are critical for the care and future of their child. The Hudson Community Living will be a safe and beautiful place for these individuals to thrive and Hudson should be proud to promote this plan and set an example for other communities.

The people opposing this plan present problems that have not occurred. No, this plan does not benefit them, but a community is about a happy, healthy environment for everyone. Please stop giving these haters a voice! Prove them wrong. Maybe in the end they will learn to be kind and respectful of others.

Stay focused and determined to see this this wonderful plan come to life. Be proud of what you are doing to make Hudson an even more beautiful place to live.

The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. Please be advised that we are FOR Hudson Community Living (HCL). HCL will be a great addition to the Hudson Community as it will allow adult children with special needs to live fully, joyfully and independently in a supportive living environment surrounded by family, friends and neighbors within the community where they have grown up.

We hope that you will take this information to your next meeting on December 12.

Respectfully submitted,
Dan and Diane Brown

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Cecilia Marietti

Nick Sugar, City Planner

I am writing to show my support for the above referenced project to be constructed across the street from the police and fire stations close to downtown Hudson. Adults living with a disability need modern, friendly places to live just like everyone else. I find it sad and disturbing that there are residents of Hudson who feel differently and as though these differently abled folks do not belong in their "backyard."

As far as I can see, there is no inherent danger in putting this type of community within the city limits, and the project looks quite attractive. Being the aunt of an adult living with Down Syndrome, I welcome the opportunity for frequent interaction with these individuals. In my experience, they rarely have an unkind word to say and they are welcoming of all. I also feel that (similarly to the retirement communities in town) there may be some volunteer opportunities for our youths which would allow some of the mystique surrounding disabled people to be dispelled.

In closing, I wish to make it abundantly clear that I feel that a project of this type, far from being a detractor, will enhance the reputation of our city even further.

Thank you for reading.
Respectfully,
Shelley Frew

Dear Ms. Jones:

I have been following with interest the proposed plan for an adult living facility for individuals with developmental disabilities in Hudson. I strongly support the effort of the group that has banded together and has secured financing to bring this facility to Hudson. I believe that completion of this wonderful facility would only add to the outstanding job the Hudson community and schools have done to assist the young adults with learning disabilities as they move into adulthood. Please support this proposal at the next Planning Commission Meeting.

Member of the Hudson City Planning Commission,

I am writing to you today in strong support of the Hudson Community Living project. I ask you to read the following to understand my views.

When our family moved to Hudson, Ohio in 2013 it was for our son to attend Western Reserve Academy, but we quickly determined that the Hudson City Schools were going to be a fantastic place for our special needs daughter to grow and make friends. Through our nine years in the Hudson School system we have had so many positive experiences for our daughter, Greta. For me, the most important element has been the friends that she has made over these years from both typical and special needs kids. These friendships helped our whole family. We have learned about multiple disabilities, but mostly about these kids abilities and the acceptance of the children of Hudson.

I am continuously surprised by the students my daughter has been surrounded with these years. Every one of these individuals can act as a model for the greater community on behaviors and acceptance of others. The special needs kids who are now young adults deserve to have the same freedoms as others their age. Though they may never be able to live on their own, a community like Hudson Community Living can give these individuals an inclusive environment to live in and be part of a greater community. This community can be a model for the inclusion of persons with disabilities all over the country, putting a positive spotlight on Hudson.

I understand that residents are concerned about the HCL area, but I feel this is mostly rooted in fear of change and of the unknown. The community is designed to fit into the architecture of the area. The cottage style residences and clubhouse are designed to look like traditional homes in the area. The community will be separated from the other neighborhoods by a landscaping buffer and privacy fence. Studies have been completed on traffic issues and none have been noted. The HCL group has worked continuously with the city and the planning commission to mitigate any issues and work on density concerns.

The HCL group has worked had to develop this plan and has raised $5 million for the project. I feel the resistance to this project is unfounded. The benefit to Hudson goes beyond tax revenues or spending in downtown. This will be a special place where these adults can feel safe and supported by family, friends, and Hudson overall.

I encourage you to please support this important addition to Hudson. Let's show others another way to do things and help these individuals have the full life they deserve.

Shannon Foskett

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Ms. Jones,

I am writing to support the proposed Hudson Community Living project. We have been residents of Hudson since 2000. I think a home for the adults with special needs would be a blessing for the adult as well as their families. I personally have known the Gurreris for several years and I have never met more quality people. I also have been to functions with their special needs son and many of his special needs friends. They are very functioning adults that are courteous and special people that care for each other. I would hope that the you would see fit to approve this project.

Thank you for all that you do.

Dear Ms. Jones,

My name is Joy Sandone and I live at 6779 Saint Regis Boulevard. In addition to being a community member, I have also had the pleasure of working as a Special Education Aide in the Hudson City School District for the last 16 years. I have worked at Ellsworth Hill Elementary, East Woods and I am currently working at Hudson High School. I have had the unique perspective to know most of these adults with developmental disabilities since they were in second grade. These individuals give 100% each and every day! Whether working at school, jobs or volunteering these adults have a drive to succeed! These adults are some of the most loving people whom I have ever met. Hudson Community Living will provide a supported environment for them and it can become their lifelong home. The parents and community leaders have done such an amazing job in planning this neighborhood. They have already raised 5 million dollars of 10 million dollar project. These individuals will be a great addition to the neighborhood. As a parent, I will always worry about my kids. The parents of children with developmental disabilities have many more things to worry about. This community will enable the parents to have a safe community for their children after they are gone. I am respectfully asking for this community to be approved. This unique neighborhood model will show everyone that Hudson is an inclusive community.

Sincerely,

Joy Sandone

Dear Melissa,

We would like to express our support for the Hudson Community Living project. This is an innovative and much needed living space for our Hudson adult residents with developmental disabilities. Many people, like ourselves, moved to Hudson in large part because of our excellent school system and wonderful sense of community. Many of these young adults were able to get an amazing education through the Hudson schools. Once they graduate, it is imperative we continue to offer support for them and their families. We know several of the families personally and know the peace of mind they will have for their children to be able to continue to reside in Hudson, independently. We also believe this could be a big draw to Hudson and could be modeled elsewhere for the growing number of people who could benefit from this type of living situation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Marcy and Jay Schulman

As a resident of Hudson, 404 Cutler Ln, Hudson, OH 44236, I fully support the development for Hudson Community Living. Please vote "yes" on the project on December 12th. Since moving to Hudson in the summer of 1997, we have truly enjoyed the growth of Downtown Hudson. We brag to friends about the 30+ choices we have for a meal out or a trip to the library to simply read the newspaper. The lives that will be impacted by HCL will be able to participate in both work and consumption, if they can walk to Downtown Hudson.

I've known Chris and Patty Gurreri since 2004 and I can attest to the character and commitment they have to family, faith and friends. Chris has consistently demonstrated awareness and investment in the needs of those less fortunate.

Please take this note as 100% support of HCL and my desire as a resident to see these young people have the same privilege others do to work, walk, and live in Downtown Hudson.

Thank you for serving on the planning commission team.

Hello,
I am writing today in support of the proposed development of HCL. I believe that this type of housing project reflects the type of community that Hudson should be known for and is quite simply the right thing to do. We have taken a few black eyes in the recent past and providing this opportunity to young people who need assistance gives all of us in Hudson something to feel proud of.

Dear Planning Commission Members:

Not often does the city have an opportunity for such a wonderful project as the Hudson Community Living Project. I support it for two reasons. I'll be improperly candid and start with my selfish reason for being in favor of it – This is precisely the kind of community addition that attracts people to Hudson which helps improve overall home values. That this may be a national model and attract positive publicity enhances that point.

Unselfishly, I believe those that are blessed have a responsibility to others. Not a requirement to help, but a choice to make a difference. It is a simple test of character. Over and over in my 20 plus years as a Hudson resident I've seen how our fellow neighbors have given back to so many people in so many ways. We see it again in this project with people committing so much of themselves to make the lives of the less fortunate better. I'm both humbled and encouraged by such amazing people.

I can appreciate the reasonable concerns of those living nearby, the "not in my backyard" contingent. Understandable. Their apprehensions should be more than met by the careful thought that has been put into the design considerations. I hope unreasonable concerns do not stand in the way of making Hudson a better place for all of us.

I fully support the project and hope you can bring this incredible facility to life!

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Lance Frew

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Planning Commission:

I'm writing to add my voice to the crescendo of Hudson voices in support of Hudson Community Living. From conversations with numerous residents, the vast majority of Hudson residents enthusiastically embrace this project. A vote against it would be contrary to the wishes of the majority, not to mention be in opposition of the new zoning already approved for it.

The few people opposed are immediate neighbors. They have all kinds of reasons, but we all know it is because they don't want the neighborhood near them. In fact, there is absolutely no direct access to their neighborhoods from Hudson Community Living – none at all.

Below are other arguments presented by neighbors that are also not true:

- The development will be in violation of the Fair Housing Act because it won't take abled people. This is completely false because the new zoning requires the community be limited to those with disabilities.

- The development doesn't have a state license to operate. "Homes" do not need to be licensed – the providers who care for and support residents do (and will be). The requirement is for caregivers to be licensed, not the homes. I sit on the board of directors for North Coast Community Homes, the largest provider of such housing in NEO with 240 homes. I can tell you that not a single one is "licensed" home. This is in accordance with every county board of development disabilities. Because this is not a "facility," providers are licensed, not homes – this is the guidance.

- The small, .2 acres of remediated wetlands will cause flooding. Again, no. The Army Corp of Engineers has been consulted stating the remediation should have no adverse effects.

- The property is too dense. In reality, the density is similar or less than the surrounding neighborhood.

The adult children for whom this community is being created do not have mental health issues – they have developmental (cognitive) disabilities such as down syndrome. Hudson Community Living will be a national model for diversity and inclusion of persons with developmental disabilities. People will come from across the country to see what we are doing here – and Hudson will, for once, be put in a positive spotlight for its diversity and inclusion.

Dear Hudson Planning Commission Members,

I am writing to show my support for Hudson Community Living. I had actually thought things were moving along and that plans had been finalized, not realizing until recently that there are opponents to HCL. When I heard that a small group of residents hired an attorney with the objective to block this project, I knew I had to speak up.

I have lived in Hudson since 1998 and raised 3 children here, with the youngest still a student in the district. From the very young grades, our kids were taught the importance of empathy, to demonstrate compassion, and to be inclusive of everyone. In high school, my daughter was a cheerleader who volunteered her time with the Sparkle cheer program and Our Time to Shine, both of which many of the potential residents of HCL actively participated in. Some went on to college programs where they learned to be independent and to live on their own. It makes sense that the next step for them would be to move into HCL, otherwise they would be regressing.

The design of HCL has been carefully thought out, with the proper approvals obtained along the way. It will be beautiful! From the housing to the clubhouse to the landscaping, this community will showcase Hudson charm while accommodating the needs of the residents. The location is perfect...close to downtown so the residents can walk to work or grab a bite to eat, yet safe because it is right across from the police station. This development will look way better than what was there before!!

For the opponents, I want to ask: What are you worried about? What do you value in life? What do you want to teach your children? What are you actually opposing? You can say all you want about traffic, safety, density, etc but I think those are all bland excuses. You really are opposing the type of community that is being planned, which is outright discrimination. Is that what we want Hudson to be known for? I personally know many of the potential residents. They are the kindest, sweetest people! Their families are so supportive and will do anything to make sure this community is successful.

I will leave you with a final thought. My family recently suffered a tragedy this past June. My husband had a heart attack and we lost him. He was only 53 years old. We have personally experienced the best of the Hudson community. From meals for weeks, visits from teachers, donations, gifts, flowers (we are still getting them!), cards, and tasks we would never ask anyone to do but people did because they wanted to help.....we witnessed an entire community coming together to support us. THIS is what Hudson is about. THIS is what we want to be known for. Please support HCL!

Kind Regards,
Julie Susz

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Good evening,

As a 20+ year Hudson resident I am writing to urge you all to support the Hudson Community Living (HCL) center, an innovative, forward-thinking, accessible neighborhood for adults with developmental disabilities to be located adjacent to Barlow Community Center. It will be a place where adult children with special needs can live fully, joyfully and independently in a supportive environment surrounded by family, friends, and neighbors, within the community where they grew up.

I appreciate your consideration.

Thanks

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Dear Hudson Planning Commission:

My name is Doug Colafella and I'm a Hudson resident with three teenage sons. I'm writing to voice my strong support for the Hudson Community Living project. As you may know, there are many wonderful Hudson families who seek a safe and secure living environment when their special needs child reaches adulthood. Ideally, they seek an inclusive residential setting surrounded by family, friends and neighbors – within the community they grew up in.

Unfortunately, this need is largely unfulfilled in Hudson today.

As stewards of our community, you have the responsibility to take appropriate steps to accommodate unmet needs that exist within Hudson. If we fail to accommodate this need – or we acquiesce to those in the community who ignorantly oppose it – we're essentially turning our backs on these vulnerable individuals, many of whom grew up in Hudson. I can speak to this from experience. My oldest son is a very charming young man on the high-functioning end of the autism spectrum. He has a drivers' license, has hopes and dreams, and he looks like a typical Hudson kid, but the reality is that his intellectual disabilities will most likely require residential support for the foreseeable future. When it came time to find a group home setting for him last summer, there was simply nothing available in Hudson. Most of the alternatives were in undesirable or even unsafe neighborhoods that my son had no connection to. If you had a child with special needs, is that an outcome you would accept?

I respectfully request that you support Hudson Community Living, an innovative, forward-thinking, accessible neighborhood for adults with developmental disabilities. Here are some important facts to consider:

- HCL features seven cottage style multi-unit residences, a gazebo, walking paths, and an elegant clubhouse beautifully designed to look like a traditional Hudson family home

- This supportive living environment will become home to up to 33 adult children with developmental disabilities

- HCL is so unique, we expect it to become a national model for inclusion of persons with developmental disabilities, shining a positive spotlight on Hudson and its residents

- Hudson City Council recently approved new zoning for the community

- HCL has worked continuously with Hudson City Staff and the Hudson Planning Commission on density and has had two traffic studies completed. This community will be less dense than surrounding Hudson neighborhoods

- The founding parent group has privately raised $5 million for the project and have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times

- There is absolutely no direct access to this community from surrounding neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence

Thanks for your consideration, and I urge you to do what's right for all residents of Hudson, especially our most vulnerable ones.

Doug Colafella

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Ann Blechman

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Mia Samchez

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Michael Coburn

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

We want to voice our support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adults with developmental disabilities. We understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this development. Having spent the last 17 years living next to one of the potential future residents and knowing some of the future residents through activities in Hudson schools, we find most of the fears expressed by this small group of residents to be unfounded.

First, Hudson Community Living (HCL) is a group of individuals and parents who are an integral part of our Hudson community who have raised private funds for the project. Interactions with these individuals have enriched our lives, not compromised them.

Second, they are upstanding members of the community and statements that this development is a risk to Hudson's safety and security are simply not true. But to HCL's credit, they have modified the plans multiple times at an incremental cost to alleviate concerns expressed by their future neighbors. This includes fencing and space buffers.

Third, is it a sound legal decision for Hudson Planning Commission to reject this development based upon the unfounded concerns raised by a small group of residents? It seems to me that the HCL has followed the correct legal process, negotiated in good faith, made numerous adjustments to the plans and are on sound legal ground for the project. We cannot let the biases of a few individuals result in a legal position that cannot be defended.

For these reasons, we fully support HCL's project and believe it should receive approval from the Planning Commission.

Respectfully yours,

Jim and Kelley Crookston

Hello:

I am writing to you to express my support for the Hudson Community Living structure that is currently being considered by the Planning Commission.

As an educator, I have been involved with this community for approximately 24 years. About seventeen years ago my husband and I made the decision to join it as residents because we were impressed by the sense of support and collegiality that Hudson has long worked to foster.

And now we have a chance to help support some of the most vulnerable members of Hudson by giving them access to a safe communal living situation that allows them freedom and safety. Isn't that the attitude we've worked so hard to foster in our children throughout their youth? I love that as adult citizens, we now have chance to put our money where our mouth is and show our support for the values we've attempted to encourage in our children.

It is my sincere hope that you will vote in favor of allowing the HCL to move forward. This is a project that is close to my heart because I have gotten the chance to know the individuals and families that would benefit from this from. All of us move here with the intention of giving our children the best possible future. With this in mind, a vote in favor seems like a no-brainer.

Thank you for your time.

Fondly,
Gina Von Ville

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Carissa Arsham

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

To the Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission,

I am writing this email to show my support of Hudson Community Living (HCL). Thanks to the Planning Commission, along with the Architectural and Historic Board of Review, Board of Zoning, and City Council, Hudson continues to grow and evolve while maintaining its charm and character. This balance between progress and prudent oversight makes Hudson one of the most desirable communities to live in the country.

I have been part of Hudson since 1976. From my historical perspective, it is strange to me that HCL seems to be getting the most resistance from residents of Fox Trace. I vividly remember Hudson before Fox Trace, and in fact, my parents were original homeowners in this development. To me, the footprint of Fox Trace altered the "walk-to-town" landscape significantly more than HCL will. Yet, the Hudson community in the mid 1980's trusted the planning, zoning and architectural review process to ensure Fox Trace met the standard to balance progress and character. I know firsthand that Fox Trace was an awesome addition to Hudson; HCL is a meaningful evolution of this process.

Tangentially, I would also like to make quick mention of Bradley Drive. I don't know how many Hudsonites know that the house now across Streetsboro Street was moved to make room for that project. That was a pretty bold move, yet can be seen in retrospect as another example of the Hudson process working.

On a personal note, I want to emphasize how important the Oviatt Street location is to the essence of HCL. After my parents built their house on Pinewood Lane, I was fortunate enough to live there over my last two summers of college. My family and I took advantage of the proximity to town to enjoy all the benefits downtown had to offer and this was before First and Main! I feel such great warmth that adults with special needs like my son Silas can enjoy the same benefits and that Silas now has the chance to be a third generation Hudsonite for life. Silas currently works for the Hudson City Schools, and his favorite restaurants are Three Palms and Subway. The great location of HCL will allow Silas the benefits of integrating into the community while giving Hudson the benefits of everything Silas has to offer.

From a current resident who first moved to Hudson in 1976, HCL overwhelmingly strikes the balance of Hudson continuing to grow and evolve while maintaining its special character. From the father of Silas, HCL is an incredible project that deserves your Commission's unanimous support.

Thank you.

Jim Yurak

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Hudson City Planning Commission,

I am writing in support for the Hudson Community Living project that has been proposed adjacent to the Barlow Community Center.

I see this project as only a benefit to our community and those it will be serving. I am willing to help in any way needed to ensure this becomes a place to call home for the adults with developmental disabilities.

Sincerely,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

To whom it may concern,

My husband and I have lived in Hudson for the past 28 years. We are in full support of the HudsonCommunity Living Project. We support equal opportunity for our residents with developmental disabilities. They will bring great value to the quality of life in the City of Hudson along with much needed diversity.
Also, I (Carol) have worked within the Hudson City School District for the past 15 years before retiring in the spring. I was an occupational therapist who was dedicated to preparing our students with disabilities to be contributing members of the community. These students have worked tirelessly in gaining skills in order to have an opportunity to contribute to Hudson. The Hudson Community Living project will allow our citizens to live and contribute to their community. This project is also a social justice issue, and it has my husband and my full support!

Thank you,
Carol and Dan Conway

Sarah Norman:

As a resident of Hudson, 404 Cutler Ln, Hudson, OH 44236, I fully support the development for Hudson Community Living. Please vote "yes" on the project on December 12th. Since moving to Hudson in the summer of 1997, we have truly enjoyed the growth of Downtown Hudson. We brag to friends about the 30+ choices we have for a meal out or a trip to the library to simply read the newspaper. The lives that will be impacted by HCL will be able to participate in both work and consumption, if they can walk to Downtown Hudson.

I've known Chris and Patty Gurreri since 2004 and I can attest to the character and commitment they have to family, faith and friends. Chris has consistently demonstrated awareness and investment in the needs of those less fortunate.

Please take this note as 100% support of HCL and my desire as a resident to see these young people have the same privilege others do to work, walk, and live in Downtown Hudson.

Thank you for serving on the planning commission team.

Best,

Frank Williams

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Mr. Nick Sugar,

As a resident of Hudson, 404 Cutler Ln, Hudson, OH 44236, I fully support the development for Hudson Community Living. Please vote "yes" on the project on December 12th. Since moving to Hudson in the summer of 1997, we have truly enjoyed the growth of Downtown Hudson. We brag to friends about the 30+ choices we have for a meal out or a trip to the library to simply read the newspaper. The lives that will be impacted by HCL will be able to participate in both work and consumption, if they can walk to Downtown Hudson.

I've known Chris and Patty Gurreri since 2004 and I can attest to the character and commitment they have to family, faith and friends. Chris has consistently demonstrated awareness and investment in the needs of those less fortunate.

Please take this note as 100% support of HCL and my desire as a resident to see these young people have the same privilege others do to work, walk, and live in Downtown Hudson.

Thank you for serving on the planning commission team.

Best,

Frank Williams

To All Of Above Addressees

I definitely support this proposed development for special needs children in that they might live in an independent supportive community.

The development plans HCL have proposed will not only enhance this area with lovely cottages, a gazebo, walking paths and elegant clubhouse, but will be home to 33 developmentally challenged young people.

Hudson Community Living will definitely enhance the area and provide a much needed home environment for our needy children.

Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Christine M. Dashiell

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Maddie Pompili

Good morning Hudson Planning Commission,

I am writing to express my whole-hearted support for Hudson Community Living (HCL)! As a resident of Hudson for over 22 years, I believe this would be a wonderful addition to our community and provide the city of Hudson with an opportunity to showcase its leadership in championing such an innovative idea.

Having known several parents with children with developmental disabilities in our town, I have seen firsthand the challenges they face day-in and day-out as well as for the long term. Hudson prides itself on providing incredible resources to families with developmental disabilities during their childhood via our school system, and HCL would be a great step to continue this support into their adulthood. What a win-win-win HCL would be for the city, the parents of these children, and most importantly, for the impacted adult children - please support this important initiative by voting FOR HCL at your next meeting on December 12, 2022!

Thank you,

Bill Stiles

Dear David,

We would like to express our support for the Hudson Community Living project. This is an innovative and much needed living space for our Hudson adult residents with developmental disabilities. Many people, like ourselves, moved to Hudson in large part because of our excellent school system and wonderful sense of community. Many of these young adults were able to get an amazing education through the Hudson schools. Once they graduate, it is imperative we continue to offer support for them and their families. We know several of the families personally and know the peace of mind they will have for their children to be able to continue to reside in Hudson, independently. We also believe this could be a big draw to Hudson and could be modeled elsewhere for the growing number of people who could benefit from this type of living situation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Marcy and Jay Schulman

Good morning,

I am checking on Hudson Community Living / Residential Development

33 S. Oviatt Street

Did the project receive all city approvals needed to move forward, if not, what approvals are needed?

Have any permits been issued at this time, if so, what type of permit was issued and when?
Have construction drawings been submitted?

Thank you,

Theresa,

The project did not receive any approvals to date other than demolition of existing buildings on site. Our Planning Commission will be reviewing this Conditional Use and Site Plan request on November 14th, 2022. The General Contractor would be Augere Construction, 115 Executive Parkway, #200, Hudson OH. We have a site plan package including grading, stormwater, utilities, and demo. We do not have construction drawings for the individual buildings yet.

Good afternoon,

I am checking on Hudson Community Living / Residential Development

33 S. Oviatt Street

Did the project receive all city approvals needed to move forward, if not, what approvals are needed?

Have any permits been issued at this time, if so, what type of permit was issued and when, is there a GC listed?
Have construction drawings been submitted?

Thank you,

Good morning,

I am checking on Hudson Community Living / Residential Development

33 S. Oviatt Street

Did the project receive all city approvals needed to move forward, if not, what approvals are needed?
The project is still in review. We just received the site plan application, which will be reviewed by our Planning Commission at the September 12th meeting.

Have any plans been submitted at this time, if so, is there an architect of record listed?
The site plan has been submitted, but not building elevations. The architect will be Peninsula Architects 1775 Main St, Peninsula, OH 44264

Have any permits been issued at this time, if so, what type of permit was issued and when, is there a GC listed?
Have construction drawings been submitted?
No permits have been issued at this time. No GC listed

Thank you,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Leah Simmons

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Helena Fenn

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Emma Russell

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Sara Knoblauch

Hello everyone!

My name is Audrey Susz! I signed the automated letter of support through the HCL website but wanted to expand more on my viewpoints .

I currently work, or have closely worked, with many potential future residents of Hudson Community Living over the years. I have a unique perspective of what I see from them. I have attached my formal letter of support to this email, and hope you take the content of these letters into consideration, as well as the wishes of the future residents and their families, when voting on December 12th.

Thank you for taking the time to read this email and my letter of support!

Best to all of you,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Jennifer Hoffmeier

Dear Nick,

We would like to express our support for the Hudson Community Living project. This is an innovative and much needed living space for our Hudson adult residents with developmental disabilities. Many people, like ourselves, moved to Hudson in large part because of our excellent school system and wonderful sense of community. Many of these young adults were able to get an amazing education through the Hudson schools. Once they graduate, it is imperative we continue to offer support for them and their families. We know several of the families personally and know the peace of mind they will have for their children to be able to continue to reside in Hudson, independently. We also believe this could be a big draw to Hudson and could be modeled elsewhere for the growing number of people who could benefit from this type of living situation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Marcy and Jay Schulman

The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

I am writing on behalf of the proposed Hudson Community Living neighborhood. When I first heard about the idea of this community happening, I was so excited and proud that this was going to become a reality. When I then heard that there was some pushback, I was utterly dumbfounded.
This is a wonderful privately-funded idea that we are looking forward to having in the city where we have lived for 23 years. We walk by the property often to see the progress and hope to volunteer there in the future if needed.
Thank you,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

November 28, 2022

To The Hudson City Council, The Hudson Planning Commission, The Hudson City Manager, and the Hudson City Solicitor:

As we await a response to our November 14, 2022 Taxpayer Demand letter raising (among other concerns) sincere, serious legal questions by a well-respected, Washington DC-based law firm about the foundational and organizational legality of the Hudson Community Living project, the purpose of this letter is to review what the public knows about the process of how, as of this writing two weeks before the next Planning Commission meeting, we, as a community and a city, are still discussing the possibility of approving this duplex rental project in spite of many fundamental questions about its legality and viability still left unanswered. Whatever your feelings are about this project, I hope we can all agree that in order for all those involved to feel satisfied with the result, we, as a community, need to be satisfied that a sound process was followed from beginning to end. In my business, we are very process driven and we believe rigorously following a sound process from the very start of an endeavor will usually lead to a good outcome. Unfortunately, from what we learned at the last Planning Commission meeting, it appears that the process for evaluating this project was possibly flawed from the beginning, and could be leading to a flawed result.

One of our sons is in the consulting business and at one point in his career he worked in the internal strategic consulting department of a major money center bank. One of his jobs was to periodically be a member of what they called a "Red Team"; an ad hoc group that was formed from time to time to evaluate a project before it consumed too much of the bank's resources of time and money. Each Red Team was tasked with thoroughly vetting the idea put before it: fairly, clinically, and dispassionately. Only if the idea could pass through the gauntlet of the Red Team's analysis could it get to the next level of authorization. This Red Team approach was a fundamental, institutionalized part of their process, accepted by all as necessary to making sure the bank didn't put its imprimatur on an idea that might later prove to be problematic. Most unfortunately it would appear that neither Hudson Community Living nor the City of Hudson itself had anything like a Red Team analyze this project.

Last month we heard in open, public testimony from the City Planner that this project started with the founder of Hudson Community Living coming to him with an idea for housing the group's developmentally disabled children, all lifelong friends, as they aged out of the Hudson City Schools. From an earlier version of the HCL website, this housing approach was hailed as innovative, and something that people from all over the country would travel to Hudson to study. Apparently without analyzing this project's foundational or operational legality, HCL was offered a site in Hudson's Phase 2 downtown development. According to the City Planner's public testimony, this site was rejected by the founder of Hudson Community Living because, "he didn't want to wait". And so, somehow the current site was decided upon, zoning was changed, city land was sold without an open auction, and our zoning code was turned inside out and upside down to allow for a conditional use that is arguably not spelled out in the zoning code. All because a single individual with apparent access to millions of dollars "didn't want to wait". That doesn't seem to be an appropriate basis for setting sound, long-lasting, public policy on an issue of great consequence.

Imagine if there was a process in place where the City Planner, instead of offering up a city owned site for an innovative idea that hadn't been tried before, was required to ask a few basic questions to other members of our city government, such as, "Is this proposal legal?" "Is it the best way to help the developmentally disabled community?" "What other options have been explored?" For example, with apparently at least $5 million (and perhaps up to $10 million) at their disposal, did HCL ever consider just buying houses in Hudson for these individuals? The same Executive Director and Assistant Director could be hired to help coordinate care. The same college students could be given scholarships to live in the houses. The same chef could be hired to prepare and deliver meals. All this could be done with no increase in density and no concerns with violating federal laws, and the federally-mandated concept of realizing maximum integration of housing for the disabled would have been met.

Imagine how much better off we'd be as a community if our city, not to mention HCL, had put together a Red Team to answer all these questions before proceeding with an idea that has clear legal uncertainties with lasting, unknown consequences. As a matter of sound policy making, should we really be sitting in a Planning Commission meeting, where it seemed as though certain Commissioners were inclined to vote this project forward, and suddenly deed restrictions are being proposed in case the project fails? (Why only 25 years? Can the City Council delegate its authority to lift the restriction to the City Solicitor? Who pays for the demolition of the buildings if that is required? If this development is found to violate federal law, what position is the city in if it has put on a deed restriction that mandates the illegal project be sold to another operator of the same type of project?). And what of the fact that a Commissioner actually was forced to ask the question of the applicant to produce a legal opinion as to why they can discriminate? (What sort of discrimination was being probed? Discrimination against those with other disabilities? Discrimination against those with disabilities who are not the children of the founders or their lifelong friends? Discrimination against those who aren't from Hudson? Or discrimination against the very individuals they are trying to help, since housing them in such a segregated setting has been ruled by the US Supreme Court as inherently discriminatory?). Is the implication of the question that somehow a legal opinion, paid for by the applicant, could somehow form the basis for a decision by the city? Who renders an opinion on the opinion?

I don't know what action the Planning Commission or City Council will take in the future, but these entities should hit the reset button and deny this request for site plan and conditional use approval. There are simply too many sincere, serious, consequential unanswered questions. HCL seems to be putting forth a false choice: that one is either for this project in this location, at this time, or one is against providing housing for developmentally disabled individuals. That is simply not true and that false choice needs to be rejected. There are other options and, for what it's worth, I would be more than willing to help analyze them as part of a citizen's group.

Let's start anew with a process that thoroughly understands the issues, and engages the community with the best ideas to move forward to help this population. Otherwise, I'm afraid that the discussion we've been having, where we're collectively trying to reach a solution, will turn into an argument, where two sides dig in their heals and each try to prove they are right. Discussions lead to productive solutions among the stakeholders. Arguments lead to decisions at some distant time by a judicial system far removed from the heart of the community.

Thank you for listening.

Respectfully,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear City Planner and members of the Planning Commission,
I am writing to you to express my support for Hudson Community Living. I have lived in Hudson for over 20 years. I am a certified teacher, a COTA/L and a coach. I believe this is an incredible opportunity for our community to demonstrate our love and support for our population of adult children with special needs. I have had the privilege of working with this subset of children in the schools and I've also coached them on various teams. They can thrive with a supportive environment. Hudson Community Living can provide the perfect environment that will enrich the lives of the individuals who reside within the community. In turn, I wholeheartedly believe those individuals will enrich the lives of those with whom they come in contact within our community. This is an opportunity for Hudson to be a pioneer in this progressive endeavor.
Sincerely,

Dear Hudson Planning Commission and Mr. Sugar:

The purpose of this letter is to express our full support for the Hudson Community Living (HCL) project and site plans to be presented for approval on December 12. An accessible neighborhood where adults with developmental disabilities can live "fully, joyfully and independently in a supportive living environment surrounded by family, friends, and neighbors, within the community where they grew up" is an incredible concept, and the planned model is exceptionally well thought out. We would love to see HCL a reality in Hudson and a model for other communities nationwide.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Lance and Gabriela Hutt

Dear Community Members,

I am writing this email to support the Hudson Community Living for accessible neighborhood for adults with developmental disabilities to be located adjacent to Barlow community Center. See below for detailswhy I am supporting!

- HCL features seven cottage style multi-unit residences, a gazebo, walking paths, and an elegant clubhouse beautifully designed to look like a traditional Hudson family home
- This supportive living environment will become home to up to 33 adult children with developmental disabilities
- HCL is so unique, we expect it to become a national model for inclusion of persons with developmental disabilities, shining a positive spotlight on Hudson and its residents
- Hudson City Council recently approved new zoning for the community
- HCL has worked continuously with Hudson City Staff and the Hudson Planning Commission on density and has had two traffic studies completed. This community will be less dense than surrounding Hudson neighborhoods
- The founding parent group has privately raised $5 million for the project and have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times
- There is absolutely no direct access to this community from surrounding neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence.

Sincerely,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Good Day!
We are so pleased that there is the possibility of an independent community for those with developmental disabilities to be built in Hudson, Ohio. The very beneficial opportunity to realize some independence and much confidence will make all the difference for those who will live in this community. Hudson has always been a wonderful place to live and raise a family. I am delighted to enable the next step for those who need a supportive community to experience further growth. It is such an honor for Hudson residents to have the privilege to step up and provide such an innovative service. We all feel proud to call Hudson our home. We can take pride to the next level with such an outstanding endeavor.

There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

Good Day!
We are so pleased that there is the possibility of an independent community for those with developmental disabilities to be built in Hudson, Ohio. The very beneficial opportunity to realize some independence and much confidence will make all the difference for those who will live in this community. Hudson has always been a wonderful place to live and raise a family. I am delighted to enable the next step for those who need a supportive community to experience further growth. It is such an honor for Hudson residents to have the privilege to step up and provide such an innovative service. We all feel proud to call Hudson our home. We can take pride to the next level with such an outstanding endeavor.

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I am writing to express support for the mission and design of Hudson Community Living.

I am a resident of Hudson and was drawn to the city by the excellent school system and overall quality of life. My youngest daughter recently graduated from Hudson High School and benefitted tremendously from the excellent services offered there to students with special needs. The HCL plan would allow parents like us to remain connected to the community, while our adult children remain connected to each other. It is truly a marvelous opportunity for these special individuals, but it is just as important for the city itself.

The HCL plan would create a "village within the village" catering to a wonderful group of Hudson residence. These individuals contribute in many ways to the life of the city, as they already do every day. This caring community would be an excellent neighbor, and would represent a wonderful and positive use of the land upon which it is to be built.

It is understandable that some of the neighbors might have questions about the direction and quality of this development, but my own investigation shows that it is everything any of us could want for our community. Living on John Clark Lane, we were surprised when a group home opened up on our small street of a dozen houses. Because there is no regulation or licensing for homes such as this one, we did not know what to expect. But we have been impressed by the residents of this home, who bring a quiet and positive presence every day. We could not ask for better neighbors, and we know that HCL will be all of this and more!

Having viewed the previous meetings, it occurs to me that many of the neighbors are misunderstanding the residents, their needs, and the potential benefits of this community. I believe that additional education will help to alleviate their concerns, and they will come to appreciate this new addition to our town.

Please vote to approve Hudson Community Living so we can all benefit from the presence of this wonderful organization. I know it will have a positive impact on the community!

Sincerely,
Stephen Foskett

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Support FOR Hudson Community Living

Dear Members of the Hudson City Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar,

I want to voice my enthusiastic support FOR Hudson Community Living, the development being considered for adult children with developmental disabilities. I understand there is a small group of residents who are opposed to this wonderful supportive living environment, and I simply do not understand why. There is absolutely no direct access to this community from their neighborhoods. The development has a 25-foot landscape buffer as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence. The homes are beautifully designed to seamlessly blend with Hudson's charm.

The people behind this project live in our community and are experts in business, operations, management, law and developmental disabilities. They are parents of a child with a developmental disability such as autism, Down syndrome or cerebral palsy. They have raised their children in Hudson. And they have single-handedly raised $5 million for the project. These parents have worked diligently with the city and made every adjustment asked of them. They have responded to resident questions multiple times and have already received support of City Council who unanimously passed new zoning so that the development could be built.

Don't let this project be stopped. Put Hudson in the positive spotlight for innovation and inclusion. It's important to the community and critically important to the adult children who will live there. I am enthusiastically in support of Hudson Community Living and respectfully request that the Planning Commission votes FOR this development.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Planning Commission,

Thank you for your consideration of Hudson Community Living.

I grew up in Hudson and moved back in 2015. A major reason why I moved back here was to be close to my family members and it has been such a blessing to me and my children . Our community is such an excellent place to raise a family and is so inclusive of families who have children with disabilities. Having grown up in Hudson and seeing the gift it is for so many families, I think it is very ideal to offer this gift to families who want to stay here and also see their adult child have an independent life while also enjoying the many benefits of being close to their family members.

This is a beautiful way to model how communities can help one another to the rest of our country and world. In a time where there is so much division, what a great way to demonstrate love, support, and family-togetherness.

Sincerely,
Amy Kolarik

There are many reasons to live in Hudson but one always hears about the schools, especially their efforts for and commitment to children with developmental disabilities. Hudson kids, typical learners or not, learn to respect each other thanks to inclusive learning and supportive classrooms for all. Why on earth wouldn't we support an effort that helps these same individuals stay in their community as adults in a supportive and loving environment? It seems to me that HCL is an opportunity for Hudson to "walk the walk." Are we committed to ALL our citizens or is that just lip service for the HCSD marketing effort?

I fully support everything HCL is doing. Please vote to approve HCL.

Thank you,

Mr. Sugar,
I am writing to support the proposed Hudson Community Living project. We have been residents of Hudson since 2000. I think a home for the adults with special needs would be a blessing for the adult as well as their families. I personally have known the Gurreris for several years and I have never met more quality people. I also have been to functions with their special needs son and many of his special needs friends. They are very functioning adults that are courteous and special people that care for each other. I would hope that the you would see fit to approve this project.
Thank you for all that you do.

Dear Hudson Planning Commission:

The concept of inclusion is a critical topic within private and public schools, non-profit organizations, corporate board rooms and communities. The Hudson Community Living project is a shining example of bringing inclusion to life via an innovative model that will benefit not only the families of and the adults with developmental disabilities, but our beloved town as a whole. As a community, how could we possibly turn away from the opportunity to embrace such a project? Hudson is frequently recognized as a top place to live in Northeast Ohio. Why wouldn't we want the national recognition this project may bring as a reflection of the unique ways we are creating a community of inclusion for individuals of all abilities. This is good for people, and this is good for business!

In addition, the HCL has collaborated consistently with the City of Hudson and the Planning Commission as it relates to all aspects of the project. Two traffic studies were recently completed in response to the questions surrounding density. In conclusion, this community will be less dense than the existing Hudson neighborhoods surrounding HCL. The ongoing collaboration also resulted in Hudson City Council's recent approval of new zoning for the community.

It is unfortunate that some have tried to suggest direct access to this community from surrounding neighborhoods. In reality, there is absolutely no direct access and the development will include a 25-foot landscape buffer, as well as an attractive 6-foot privacy fence.

I would be proud to share with friends and colleagues throughout Northeast Ohio and beyond that I am a resident of Hudson, Ohio….a place that has truly embraced the benefits of inclusion through a "community within a community" (even if that community was within walking distance of my current home) where adults with special needs can live fully, joyfully and independently in a supportive living environment surrounded by family, friends and neighbors in a town where they grew up.

Please take this into consideration during your upcoming December 12th vote.

Best,

Kara Lewis

Subject: FOR Hudson Community Living (HCL) December 2022

Good Evening! I have been a Hudson resident, tax payer & voter since 1988. All of My children have been in the Hudson City Schools 13 year club (Kindergarten through 12 grade). I find it very interesting that the Hudson City Schools has an awesome program for children with developmental disabilities, yet when they become adults the City of Hudson does not compare.
Before moving to Hudson, we lived in Stow. For many years the City of Stow has had several cottage style multi-unit residences for adults with developmental disabilities. We lived in a condo rental very close with no issues.
Actually better neighbors then many others. The privately funded & financed proposal in Hudson is 10 times better. It is time for the City of Hudson to step up to the plate. Please vote FOR.
Sincerely
Chris Tolbert

To the members of the City of Hudson Planning Commission and Mr. Nick Sugar, City Planner:

I am writing today to offer my individual support FOR the innovative Hudson Community Living neighborhood. The City of Hudson prides itself in many areas, but we are especially proud of how we support and encourage those individuals who might not have a voice. What better way to support families within our community than by enabling their adult children with developmental disabilities the dignity of living on their own and ensuring the future care of these members of our society when their parents might not be able to either due to illness or death.

I urge you to vote in favor FOR the approval of the HCL neighborhood project.

I would be happy to speak with you to help you understand the importance of this project.

Sincerely,

Michelle Gutierrez

Hello

I am writing this evening to express complete support for Hudson Community Living. What a great concept and Hudson should be proud to be one of the first communities to offer an innovative, forward-thinking, accessible neighborhood for adults with developmental disabilities.

We are writing to express our support for the Hudson Community Living project. As residents of Hudson for almost 21 years, we have seen our town grow and change, resulting in a community that we are proud to call our home. As a desirable place to live, with a school district that offers a first rate education to children with a variety of needs, we are fortunate that a group of concerned people have come together to create a supportive living community that administers to individuals with developmental disabilities. The research we've done indicates that the proposed plans meet all zoning requirements and provides a more than adequate buffer between this community and the surrounding residential properties. In addition, the group sponsoring this community has consistently been receptive to concerns and issues regarding this new development.

As such, the Hudson Community Living project should move forward. Pushback on this project seems to be from a minority of residents who don't want this kind of community near their homes. Our own home backs up to the Christ Community Chapel and when they initiated plans to expand their parking lot, we and our neighbors spoke to them about creating a buffer to shield our backyard from seeing and hearing the additional cars. In turn, they respected our concern and responded accordingly. By being good neighbors, we have moved forward in a positive way that benefits the Chapel and protects our property.

Change is necessary to keep Hudson vibrant and a destination for people of all ages and abilities. Not permitting the development of Hudson Community Living will be detrimental to all Hudson residents. Instead, allowing it to move forward signals to everyone that our town is inclusive and welcoming, a place where our family would like to live for another 20 years.

Hello,

We are writing in SUPPORT of the Hudson Community Living project.

We are 24 year residents of Hudson and have found Hudson to be a wonderful and supportive community! Our daughter, Sarah (24), would love to live independently and we would love for her to do so in the community where she was raised, has many friends, shops, and where her family lives.

A little about Sarah. Sarah has Down syndrome, she works at Virtues in Summa Hospital, she is a volunteer patient ambassador, she is an athlete with Hudson Special Olympics: track, swimming, bowling, tennis and basketball, she is a successful actor, she is an avid reader, social media expert and a good friend to many - both with intellectual disabilities and without. Sarah is VERY social! In fact, she is probably friends with your young adults.

Sarah is NOT a troublemaker, she will not be bothering/hurting/vandalizing any nearby homes, businesses or neighbors - and I am positive that NO residents of HCL would be doing that either! She will be living her best life and enjoying every minute of it! Neighbors of HCL would be lucky to call her a friend.

Please give a YES vote, so that our young adults can experience this independence which they too so richly deserve!

Thank you,

Lisa and John Platt

To the Hudson City Planning Commission members,

Thank you for your ongoing commitment to our city. I would like to express my support for HCL. I was surprised by the some of the comments from the November meeting, particularly the one indicating this project would not have been approved 20 years ago. Assuming this is true (and we do not know whether it's true or not), what a great indication of the wonderful progress we have made in the last two decades! Should this inspired project move forward, I truly believe Hudson will be seen as an example of a city that embraces and nurtures its residents, all the way from preschool age through adulthood. We already have a fantastic school system in place that supports all of our children (gifted, typical, special etc...) and we will now have a home for adults with special needs, many of whom are already contributing to the community through work and recreation. HCL will be an asset to Hudson and we can be a national model for other cities.

Sincerely,

Johanna Yurak

Dear Mr. Sugar,

My name is Joy Sandone and I live at 6779 Saint Regis Boulevard. In addition to being a community member, I have also had the pleasure of working as a Special Education Aide in the Hudson City School District for the last 16 years. I have worked at Ellsworth Hill Elementary, East Woods and I am currently working at Hudson High School. I have had the unique perspective to know most of these adults with developmental disabilities since they were in second grade. These individuals give 100% each and every day! Whether working at school, jobs or volunteering these adults have a drive to succeed! These adults are some of the most loving people whom I have ever met. Hudson Community Living will provide a supported environment for them and it can become their lifelong home. The parents and community leaders have done such an amazing job in planning this neighborhood. They have already raised 5 million dollars of 10 million dollar project. These individuals will be a great addition to the neighborhood. As a parent, I will always worry about my kids. The parents of children with developmental disabilities have many more things to worry about. This community will enable the parents to have a safe community for their children after they are gone. I am respectfully asking for this community to be approved. This unique neighborhood model will show everyone that Hudson is an inclusive community.

Sincerely,

Joy Sandone

Hudson Planning Commission Members,

As the parent, and legal guardian, of a cognitively disabled, 30 year old daughter I hope you will support the approval of the Hudson Community Living project. I have struggled to find appropriate, semi-independent housing for my daughter for several years without success. "Community style" housing units for disabled adults are few and far between, and usually have long waiting lists for access as a resident. Even finding an apartment with 1 or 2 roommates has not been successful. As a result, my daughter lives alone in a regular apartment, with a caregiver checking in on her several times a week. So far, it's worked, but is less than ideal.

Respectfully,
Carla Maurer

My name is Matthew Walsh. I am from Hudson and I go to Ohio State and I go to the TOPS program at Ohio State. I live on my own in an apartment at Ohio State. I take the bus everyday, I walk around campus, do my own grocery shopping, wash my own clothes and do a lot of other things on my own.

I am excited to live in the new apartment in Hudson. The most important thing in my life is to be independent and make my own choices. I am very happy to live in Hudson where I grew up and went to school. Everyone was always so nice to me when I was growing up in Hudson.

Please let me live in Hudson.
