During a rain storm, water came in through the middle of the door. There was a fair bit of water that leaked onto the wood floors. The door also allows in outside air and bugs through the cracks between the door and frame.

Versatile garage doors to match traditional and contemporary style homes

Model 45 Flush wood, custom paint

door construction

Flush wood doors – So popular because they're so versatile.

Our flush style wood doors offer a wide selection of styles, windows and accents to complement both traditional and contemporary exteriors. Quality materials and expert craftsmanship give your home an appealing appearance that's easy to live with for many years.

Crafted in first class tradition

- Wood flush doors offer several distinctive exteriors to personalize your home.
- Shiplap construction minimizes air infiltration for all doors and some have built-in insulation.
- All wood frame structures are hand assembled.
- External panels are pressure-bonded to framework with high-strength, waterproof adhesive.

43 OVIATT STREET

HH George W. Church House
1878

246

George W. Church, master carpenter, came to Hudson in 1842. One of his major construction projects, in 1866, was the old high school at Oviatt and Division Streets, now demolished and replaced by Oviatt Street School. He was also the contractor for the Victorianization of the Isham-Beebe House (4) in the 1870s.

In 1878, Church built this late Gothic Revival house opposite the old high school building as his personal residence. In the early 1900s, the roof was raised and a second story added. The front door and the window trim are noteworthy—shelf lintels with brackets on the first floor windows and label molds on the upper story. The house was remodeled in the 1980s.

An architectural inspection uncovered evidence of an earlier structure in the center core of the house.
